TAX CHEATERS DEALT SHARP KNUCKLE RAP

RICH EXPENSE ACCOUNTS HIT

Washington (AP)—The government announced Tuesday that corporations and small businessmen will be required to keep more detailed records of entertainment and expense accounts starting Jan. 1.

Dana Latham, commissioner of Internal Revenue, said the action is being taken because there is a growing tendency by corporations, partnerships and small businessmen to claim tax deductions for sums spent to pay personal expenses of officers and employees.

He added that lavish business expense accounts have aroused deep resentment from some taxpayers who do not receive such allowances and feel their neighbor may be getting a better break.

Latham said this could encourage taxpayers to try chiseling and could eventually lead to a complete breakdown of the American system of self-assessment of taxes.

Tax forms used by corporations, partnerships and individual proprietors will be revised to require more expense account data in future years.

Not For '60

The new requirements will not apply to tax returns filed early in 1960, but will apply to all tax years beginning after Dec. 31.

Corporations will be instructed to report each year the salary, expense allowances and any other compensation paid to each of its 25 highest-paid officers.

The same information will be required for all partners, including limited partners, in a business organized as a partnership.

$10,000 Men

For individuals who own a business, the new rules will require reporting of salaries, expense accounts and other compensation of the proprietor and his 5 highest-paid employees. Information will be required about employees only if they receive $10,000 a year or more.

In addition, corporations will indicate on their tax forms whether they claim an expense deduction connected with a hunting lodge, ranch or farm, fishing camp, resort property, or any other similar facility.

Audit Likely

Latham said any corporation which does claim such a deduction probably will have its tax return audited.

Corporations also will have to say whether they lease, rent or own a hotel room, apartment or other dwelling used by anyone except officers or employees who are traveling.

They also will be required to say whether any deductions involve trips by relatives to conventions or business meetings, vacations for officers or employees, or the use of a yacht.

Latham said similar questions will be added to the returns for partnerships and individual proprietors.

He emphasized that individual taxpayers will not be required to take on any new accounting chores and that no one will have to do any retroactive bookkeeping.

Mrs. Ellenson Will Head Reformatory

...Board Promotes Assistant

The appointment of Mrs. Gladys Ellenson as superintendent of the State Reformatory for Women at York was announced Tuesday by the Board of Control.

She will succeed Mrs. Hattie Bowley who is retiring Friday after serving as superintendent of the institutions for 21 years.

Mrs. Ellenson, 54, has served as assistant superintendent of the Girls' Training School at Geneva for the past two years, and taught school at the same institution for one year prior to that.

The Board of Control said this experience gives Mrs. Ellenson "a splendid background for a position of this nature."

The new superintendent is a member of the Nebraska Education Association and the Ishkadah Honorary Literary Society of Morningside College at Sioux City, Ia., where she attended college.

Raecke Named Fed. Home Loan Bank Chairman

Washington (AP)—Albert J. Robertson, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Board, Monday announced appointment of chairmen and vice chairmen of the board of directors of the 11 district Federal Home Loan banks.

They will serve one-year terms starting Jan. 1. Walter R. Raecke of Central City, Neb., was named chairman of the Topeka, Kan. office, which serves Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma. Raecke is an attorney.

Petition 'Push' For Watershed

... Started By Salt-Wahoo Group

By Don Walton

The Salt-Wahoo Watershed Association moved Tuesday to speed its petition drive to place consideration of the formation of a watershed district on the May 10 primary ballot.

The association hopes to have sufficient signatures on its petitions by Jan. 30, Secretary Robert Crosby told the group's annual membership meeting.

Swift action is "urgent," Crosby pointed out.

Petitions must be signed by at least 5 owners of real estate in each of a majority of the 181 precincts in the watershed.

Board Approval

Once sufficient signatures are obtained, the Lancaster County Board must approve the petitions before the proposal can go on the ballot for voter approval.

Voters will also have an opportunity to approve directors appointed by a 7-member committee of officers and board members of the present association.

The committee will meet sometime this week to name directors who thereafter will be elected for staggered, 6-year terms.

New Directors

It was agreed Tuesday that the directors of the district—to be known as the Salt-Wahoo Watershed District—would be elected from 6 areas and that the new board would not exceed 28 members.

According to LB537 enacted by the 1959 Legislature, 20% of the directors must live on a farm, and both Lancaster and Saunders Counties must claim at least one-fourth of the total.

Other counties which have land in the district are Seward, Butler, Cass and Saline.

More Than 40%

Lancaster comprises more than 40% of the total land areas of more than a million acres, Saunders claims 37%.

As for population in the district, Lancaster has 86%, some 71% of it in Lincoln.

Tax-wise, Lancaster claims 81.5% of the district's total estimated valuation of $250 million. Lincoln has 63.5%.

The new district would be authorized to levy a tax not to exceed three-fourths of a mill. It has been speculated, however, that this tax would replace the present one-mill Sanitary District levy.

Flood Control

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which contemplates a $15 million flood control program in the Salt-Wahoo area, has insisted upon formation of one local legal entity with which it can deal during construction.

Hence, the enactment of LB537 providing machinery for the establishment of the Salt-Wahoo District, and the need for voter approval.

Earlier this year, Congress appropriated $88,000 for the purpose of completing the engineering work preliminary to initial construction.

Next Year

Appropriations to begin actual construction are expected next year, Crosby said.

Included in the long-range program is channel improvement and levee work on both Salt and Wahoo Creeks, and construction of 12 flood-retarding reservoirs on tributaries above Lincoln and Wahoo.

Seven of the reservoirs will lend themselves to recreation development.

Less than 10% of the $15 million will come from local sources.

President Otto Liebers presided at the meeting.

Next session is scheduled for the last week in April.

Installation Of EUB Heads Set Wednesday

State officers of the Evangelical United Brethren Youth Fellowship will be installed Wednesday morning at the conclusion of the group's state convention being held in Lincoln.

New officers include: president, Bill Melton of Kearney, vice president, Gerald Sorenson of Oconto, and secretary, Sharon Gustafson of Lincoln.

Tuesday the 120 members attending the two-day convention participated in workshop sessions. The highlight of the day's activity was a banquet at which the Rev. Rex Knowles, pastor of the University of Nebraska Presbyterian-Congregational Student House spoke.

The convention is being held at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church with the Rev. Don Miller of Cozad, State Youth Director, convention program chairman.

Now For Some Sunshine

Lincoln street department workers completed the major part of their cleanup of the city's streets Tuesday, removing piled snow in the downtown area and scraping residential streets. The packed snow and ice will continue to make the streets slippery until the sun and traffic melt the remainder of the weekend blizzard. (Star Photo.)

Russia's Poor Harvest Irks Nikita

Moscow (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev announced in a speech published Tuesday that this year's Soviet harvest was the worst in 4 years because of bad weather and mismanagement.

"The trouble is that we still have leaders who do not understand a thing about agriculture," he said.

Khrushchev made his speech to the Communist Party central committee. He singled out his minister of agriculture, Vladimir Mat-skevich, and a member of the central committee's presidium, Nikolai Belyayev, for criticism.

He also blamed bad weather for the harvest decrease — the U. S. S. R. shared Europe's record drought last summer — but made it plain that men and not nature chiefly were responsible.

Belyayev, who also is first secretary of the central committee in the rich farming area of Kazakhstan, was held responsible for leaving more than 3,000,000 acres of crops — nearly 5,000 square miles — in the fields unharvested.

Khrushchev said that 18,000 tractors, 32,000 combines, and 21,000 harvesters were out of commission in Kazakhstan because they needed repairs.

Humphrey To Reveal Intentions

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) has scheduled a news conference for Wednesday to make a "definite announcement" as to whether he will be a formal candidate for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

Asked about speculation that Humphrey might be planning to withdraw from consideration, friends emphasized that "He's not one to run from a fight."

There had been reports that Humphrey, like Gov. Nelson Rockefeller on the Republican side, might decide the odds were too high for him to make a formal presidential drive.

Trooper Answers $187,000 Suit In Courtroom

A Safety Patrolman being sued for more than $187,000 in connection with a 1957 accident near Beemer filed an answer to the suits Tuesday in Lancaster District Court.

Trooper James N. McFarland contends in his reply that the cause of the accident which claimed 3 lives was caused by negligence on the part of the other driver involved, Albert J. Seeman of West Point.

McFarland alleges that Seeman turned left in front of his patrol car without signaling.

Seeman and two of his passengers, Leonard Hahl and Ferdinand Toelle, were fatally injured in the crash. Suits filed by relatives of the 3 deceased men are pending against McFarland.

The accident occurred Nov. 29, 1957, on U.S. 275 about one mile east of Beemer.

Much 'Unordered' Merchandise Is Reported Locally

An "unusually large amount" of "unordered" merchandise has showered Lincolnites this season, according to James Sandin, Better Business Bureau manager.

Most of the merchandise is sent with a sympathy appeal for payment, but, says Sandin, the recipients are "not obligated to acknowledge its receipt, to return it, to pay for it unless used, to give it particular care or to keep it beyond a reasonable length of time."

Lincolnites are urged to check with the BBB for information concerning the reputation of the persons or organizations employing the unordered merchandise technique.

State's Traffic Safety Mark Is Improving

Omaha (AP) — Nebraska has shown a slight improvement in traffic safety for the first 10 months of 1959, according to the National Safety Council publication, Traffic Safety.

Gerald Schwartz of Omaha, coordinator of the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee, said the magazine gave Nebraska a 2% increase in ranking making it the 12th best among the 49 states, including Alaska but not Hawaii.

This would indicate, Schwartz said, that Nebraska's record for the year will show a slight improvement.

He said the magazine showed Omaha 17th among 21 states in its population class.

Schwartz said Omaha was charged with 26 deaths through October, giving it a rating of 2.7 or 2.7 deaths per 10,000 registered vehicles on an annual basis.

The best ranking for cities in this population class — 200,000 to 350,000 — was Wichita with an average of 0.6 or 7 deaths for the period.

Lincoln was fifth among 57 cities in its population group of 100,000 to 200,000 cities, Schwartz said. This was based on 3 deaths or a percentage of 0.7 for the period.

Altar Boys Cut Church's Income

New York (AP) — Six altar boys were accused Tuesday of stealing a Sunday collection of about $300 from an Episcopal church in Queens for a spree of comic books, candy bars and movies.

The boys, all Negroes ranging from 11 to 15 and all members of prosperous families, were charged with juvenile delinquency.

Police said they admitted taking the money from a cabinet after assisting in the 8:30 a.m. service Dec. 20.

Steel Camps More Hostile

...LEADERS TOSS SHARP BARBS

Washington (AP)—Steel labor disputants, obviously more hostile and deadlocked than ever before, ended two days of hearings Tuesday before President Eisenhower's inquiry board.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, accused the steelworkers union of being a grasping, inflation-causing labor monopoly and one-man dictatorship ruled by David J. McDonald, the union's president.

County Asks Conference With Brooks

...On Road Money

The Lancaster County Board Tuesday decided to ask Gov. Ralph Brooks to discuss with it the proposed withholding of federal road funds from 9 Nebraska counties, including Lancaster County.

The board voted to arrange a meeting with the governor sometime this month, but no date has been set.

The state has informed the 9 counties involved that they have "overspent" their allocation of federal aid secondary road money and will have to in effect pay back the amounts they received above their quotas before they may receive any additional funds.

The move reportedly will cut Lancaster County road-building by 50% if carried out.

Wooden cross near Filley attracts attention.

Mystery Of Wooden Cross Revealed

Southeast Nebraska Bureau
Filley — There are many persons in the area who will tell you just why a stark wooden cross stands atop a hillside near Highway 136.

A nearby cottonwood tree with one long horizontal branch gives many of the local speculators reason to believe the cross may mark a grave of a long-forgotten horse or cattle thief who met his end on a rope from that ominous tree.

Others guess that the cross, which can be seen from the highway, was erected as a religious reminder by some pious passerby. Or, others will tell you that the cross marks the site of a particularly gruesome automobile accident along the road.

Recently a nearby radio station jumped into the speculation by quoting a listener who asked if the cross marked the grave of a dead horse.

The real story behind the wooden cross is less spectacular. The 9-foot cross was erected about 7 or 8 years ago by Bart Trout, a local farm youth, for Easter sunrise services for the Filley Methodist Youth Fellowship.

When the new Highway 136 was routed past the site about two years later, the stories started.

A windstorm which turned the nearby cottonwood into a stark skeleton, added to the imagination of passersby.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Trout, parents of Bart, commented that "we are glad to have people know what the cross really represents" because of the many tales now circulating.

Recently Halloween pranksters hung a dummy on the "hanging tree" which remained until the Trout family cut it down.

The cross will continue to be used by the Filley MYF each Easter, including the coming one when a new sponsor, Bart Trout, will take charge of the service.

Industrial Output Up 10% Faster

... Fooled Experts

Washington (AP)—Industrial production has been increasing about 10% faster than anyone realized, the government reported. Furthermore, it said output advanced sharply this month to near-record levels.

This double measure of good news for the holiday season came from the Federal Reserve Board, which announced a major overhaul of the statistical machinery it uses to chart industrial output.

The overhaul, aided by new electronic computers, revealed that the measurements used in the past were inadequate to show the actual size and growth of the economy.

During the past 12 years, the board said, total production has increased at an average rate of 4.1% a year. The rate of gain formerly was figured as 3.7%.

What's more, the board said, an even sharper gain over past calculations was recorded for consumer goods — items bought by individuals. The new annual growth rate for consumer goods over the past 12 years is 3.7%. The old figure was 3%.

Both productivity and production have increased faster than the population, the board noted. The population growth rate has been 1.7% a year since 1947.

4 Products Show Huge Sales Hike

Washington (AP)—The government listed the 4 fastest growing consumer products of the past 12 years: air conditioners, TV sets, clothes driers and boats.

Between 1947 and 1949, the Federal Reserve Board said, production of each of these items increased by more than 400%.

The commodity which was their closest rival, electricity for use in residences, showed a 272% gain during the 12 years.

Calculating output changes for more than 40 types of goods bought by individuals, the board found that the average production increase was 58%. This was more than double the population growth of 23%.

'Man May Die In Evolution'—Scientist

Chicago (AP)—Man is not the "darling of the gods" in evolution and stands no better chance for future survival than his distant cousin, the tapeworm, an expert on fossils said Tuesday.

George Gaylord Simpson of Harvard University said the majority of the winners eventually lose and die out in the evolutionary race.

He said the history of life, as recorded in fossil studies, shows no clear over-all progression toward a transcendently worthy goal.

Addressing the annual meeting of the American

Assn. for the Advancement of Science, he said:

"Organisms diversify into literally millions of species, then the vast majority of those species perish and other millions take their place for an eon until they, too, are replaced. If that is a foreordained plan, it is an oddly ineffective one."

Simpson, professor of vertebrate paleontology, criticized what he described as "too much pussyfooting" on Charles Darwin's theory that man's closest living relatives are the apes. He said:

"Cannot Descend" "Apologists emphasize that man cannot be a descendant of any living ape — a statement that is obvious to the verge of imbecility — and go on to state or imply that man is not really descended from the ape or monkey at all, but from an earlier common ancestor.

"In fact, that common ancestor would certainly be called an ape or monkey in popular speech by anyone who saw it. Since the terms ape and monkey are defined by popular usage, man's ancestors were apes or monkeys or successively both. It is pusillanimous if not dishonest for an informed investigator to say otherwise."

Part Of Nature
Simpson said man is in the fullest sense a part of nature and not apart from it. He added:

"He is not figuratively but literally akin to every living thing, be it an amoeba, a tapeworm, a flea, a seaweed, an oak tree or a monkey — even though the degrees of relationship are different and we may feel less empathy for 42nd cousins like the tapeworm than for, comparatively speaking, brothers like the monkeys."

Farmers To File Jan. 16 Estimated Tax Returns

... Final Tax Date April 15

Farmers who want to wait until April 15, 1960 to file their final income tax returns, must file an estimated return before Jan. 16.

Otherwise, the law requires farmers to file their final income tax return on or before Feb. 15 and pay the full amount of their tax by then.

This option is available to farmers only, James L. McCrory, Omaha district director of the Internal Revenue Service explained.

Until April 15 He said farmers who file an estimated return by Jan. 15 and pay the tax due, have until April 15 for filing their final return and paying the full amount of their taxes.

The tax law defines a farmer as one who derives two-thirds or more of his gross income from farming.

McCrory advised farmers that if they filed federal income tax returns last year, the necessary forms for payment of 1959 taxes will be mailed to them. However, forms may also be obtained from the nearest Internal Revenue Service office, or from local post offices or banks.

$600 Or More

McCrory reminded Nebraskans that everyone under the age of 65 who had a gross income (not net) of $600 or more during 1959 whether or not any tax is owed.

He said taxpayers who are 65 or older on Jan. 1, 1960 are not required to file unless their gross income was $1,200 or more for 1959.

Farmers who have any questions on this subject may obtain a free copy of the publication "Farmers' Tax Guide" at their IRS office or from their county agent.

Underground Missile Talk Is Premature

... No Official Word

Any announcement that Lincoln Atlas missile sites will be built in fully-protected underground launching silos is still premature, Omaha Army Corps of Engineers spokesmen said Tuesday.

A delay in the bid scheduling until early spring of 1960 had led to speculation that Lincoln Atlas missiles might receive the new "hardened" site complex instead of the previously announced "semi-hard" protective covering.

Omaha officers said Tuesday that specifications for the Lincoln sites were still held up, and that no official word that the sites would be "hardened" had come from Washington.

The hardened silo sites, built completely underground would add about $40 million to the cost of the sites, previously announced to cost $34.5 million for the semi-hardened installations.

Bids on construction of the 9 Atlas ICBM sites ringing Lincoln had previously been scheduled to be opened in January.

Jap Trade Pact

London (AP)—Britain has announced negotiations for a new trade pact with Japan will begin here in February. Under the old agreement expiring March 31, Britain imported about 98 million dollars in goods from Japan and sent 56 million dollars' worth to that country.

Frey Resigns Community Council Job

... Here Since 1956

Donald J. Frey, executive secretary of the Lincoln Community Council and assistant executive secretary of the Lincoln Community Chest, has submitted his resignation.

He will assume duties as executive secretary of the Wheeling, W. Va. Community Chest and Council Feb. 1.

Frey, who came to Lincoln in 1956, served as assistant executive secretary of both the Chest and Council until 1958 when he became executive secretary of the Community Council.

Reorganization
During his tenure, the old Council of Social Agencies was completely reorganized into the present Lincoln Community Council.

A survey of Lincoln's health, welfare and youth organizations was conducted by Prof. Russell Leedy of Ohio State University from July, 1957, to May, 1958. Since that time the Council has had over 30 active study committees working to implement the survey. Seven major studies have been completed by the Council under Frey's direction.

According to Louis B. Finkelstein, president of the Community Council, a joint Chest-Council personnel committee is seeking a successor to Frey.

Not Enough Teachers For Russ Language

Chicago (AP)—Russian language courses in U.S. secondary schools increased 30 fold since 1957, but the supply of teachers has yet to equal demand, an educator said Tuesday.

But Leon Twarog, president of the American Assn. of Teachers of Slavic and East European Languages and associate professor at Boston University, said there should be no over-anxiety or panic.

"There's no sense expanding faster than the supply of qualified teachers warrants," Twarog said. "We don't want to go so fast that we disrupt quality."

Twarog said poor teaching ruined several language programs immediately after World War II. He estimated that the demand for qualified teachers will be met in a few years.

Twarog, in an interview, cited these recent language gains:

In 1957, only 15 secondary schools taught Russian; today, 450.

After World War II, about 30 colleges offered Slavic languages (including Russian); today, about 380.

Gold In Them Thar Drifts

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The incurable optimist can look at the most dismal picture and find something to give him strength and courage. But you needn't be an incurable optimist to find a little good in the average things which come along in daily living. This week's big snow storm has been top news as it has so disrupted the lives of so many people.

For many it has been an inconvenience and a hardship. It involves the work of shoveling out driveways and cleaning sidewalks. It keeps many people indoors who would much prefer to get out. It slows down the business world because people don't get out to spend their money. It costs money in time lost and public services performed such as plowing open the city's streets. Thousands of dollars, too, will be spent on sand, salt or gravel for slippery intersections. There will be many a slip and fall and a few cases of over-exertion which mean physical setbacks that carry with them a sustained recovery period.

None of these things is pleasant but they are only one side of the picture. We all know, of course, about the beauty of a new snowfall, even a blizzard. The drifts that form can be as inspiring as the strokes from the brush of the most gifted artist or the words that fall from the pen of the most talented writer or composer.

Settings which are created by the wonders of a winter storm are second to none. Not an architect in the land could do more with the landscape than nature does with such a simple thing as a semi-solid mass of moisture. All the ugliness of the earth is covered when snow falls and only the beauty of a white covering remains. It is a simple and unimaginative color but it is used in this case to the fullest of its potential.

But there is even more to it than this. Among the many things such a storm does is give small boys a chance to make some money. It shouldn't take too much effort for you to recall the first money you ever made in your life. Chances are that the first time you earned was as payment for shoveling snow. Of course, the first dime has changed, and is now the first dollar but the principle is all the same and the fruits of the labor are just as sweet.

Most of the time it snowed during the week, it seems, when you had to go to school all day before you could get to shoveling snow. But the minute school was out, it was home in a hurry and out on the streets with shovel in hand and a strong determination. Every drifted sidewalk and driveway looked like a pot of gold. For the bigger the drifts, the better the chance the property owner would not want to tackle the cleaning job himself.

Never does hope live higher than in the heart of a boy who makes his way to the neighbor's front door through snow above his knees. As he struggles through the drifts that block his path, he contemplates what it might be worth to get a clean path cleared to the driveway or street. The boy doesn't think in terms of time, but rather, in terms of net amounts.

If the job looks like a big one and the neighbor is known to be a friendly person, the boy might think of a whole dollar. If the boy has been at it long enough, several years, he may think of $1.50 or even $2. But he doesn't figure so much an hour for so many hours equals so big a sum. He just knows that a dollar or $2 is a lot of money and he would gladly shovel the neighbor's snow for that amount.

Actually, if the neighbor offered 50 cents, the boy would jump at the chance because it would still be 50 cents more than he has. It wouldn't bother him a bit that the job was really worth $2. Of course, his most pressing financial problem at the time is the 98-cent model airplane kit he has in his eye on but his outlook on finances is still refreshingly unique. When he gets the snow-cleaning job, he becomes a storehouse of energy. He is a human dynamo as he makes the snow fly in all directions—eagerly anticipating the rewards that will soon be his.

And don't think he isn't getting joy out of the fact that he is earning his own money and that model plane, football or whatever it is he wants will be possessed as a result of his own labors. For just as he harbors hope, the boy finds pride in what he has done on a par with that found on the highest level of business and industry. If the younger generation has gone to pot, someone has to prove it to us.

Just So It's Money

The Fall Is Hard

If you happen to be alone in a desolate spot in the middle of the night, the sight of a uniformed policeman can be a pretty welcome thing. In any time of danger, the thought of law officers pursuing their jobs is a comforting one. Along the highways the officers who patrol there can be the greatest friends you ever had. Their aid in emergencies can be invaluable and the lives they have saved are many.

When you are asleep at night or your business is left closed over a week end or holiday, you feel much of the same security in the knowledge that the fire department is on the job to protect your property from destruction by fire. If a fire does break out, you are thankful for the fast and efficient work of the uniformed men of the fire department. Because of the responsibility they have and the fine manner in which they have shouldered it, firemen, policemen and men in uniform in general have come to rest in a high place in the public's esteem.

They are looked up to as someone a little above the average and someone from whom that little extra effort is always forthcoming. This is what makes it such a blow when you read of such things as the Wilber policeman who was recently sentenced for robbing a filling station cash register and the California firemen who have been arrested for setting fires.

As a familiar commercial goes, "you expect more" from them so it is a bigger blow when you don't get it. The men who had a part in these crimes not only ruined their own lives but contributed to the tearing down of a public confidence and trust that is a fine and essential thing. The only consolation is that they are in such a minority they can hardly be measured. Redemption for them will be a herculean task.

Still Room For Students

According to the New York College Examining Board, America's forthcoming high school graduates can reduce their worry for fear they will be barred from a college education.

Lack of accommodations on the part of the nation's colleges and universities has been overstated mainly because the great rush of students is still several years away. What is more apt to frustrate the current crop of graduates is stiffer entrance requirements plus the greater costs involved in getting an education. However, the entrance examinations are never a serious barrier to the well prepared applicant, although lack of financing is.

It is interesting to note that the student most apt to be welcomed by the colleges is a smart one from the Middle West who is not a product of a metropolitan school, but rather from the well run school of the smaller town. These are the outstanding youngsters who are now finding their way into the prestige schools in increasing numbers, and who, as always, are welcome in the general run of universities.

The fact that these students are less sophisticated and less apathetic to novelty makes them more educable. In short they try harder, and enter more keenly into the spirit of education.

There seems to be a consistent pattern here, applicable to many lines of achievement other than education. Business and industry draws heavily from Middle West stock for its administrators and technicians, while the professional and military services have long been known for the emergence of the men from the midlands. It indicates that a little less than full sophistication is required for maximum achievement. In short it is better to run a little hungry than on too full a stomach.

Where Are The Benefits?

During 1959 there were 23 million acres of American farmland in the federal soil bank. By the end of 1960 it is expected that the figure will reach 28 million acres.

Of all the experiments essayed by the Benson administration, the soil bank stands largely alone in popular favor, perhaps because on paper it is full of plausibilities. It makes sense to urban people that if land is withdrawn from production the problem of surpluses will be reduced, perhaps eliminated. And if surpluses disappear the public treasury will be relieved of its large outlays for price supports. Moreover, the condition of the farmer will be improved because without surpluses his open market prices should rise. The program likewise has appeal to distressed farming areas because it provides some cash income from land that does not have to be worked. A one-man operated farm can save on the overhead through less farm labor, and seed and tillage costs.

This all sounds fine. Only the facts contradict it.

After several years of soil banking the public treasury is more heavily taxed than ever. Price supports have been reduced but soil bank payments have been increased.

Surpluses are also steadily increasing and so is production. Despite the withdrawal of 23 million acres the 1959 crop year was a record breaker.

The average farmer has not found his economic picture improved.

The program becomes even more ponderable when it is realized that if it is not maintained indefinitely it will one day return millions of acres of refreshed land to production with explosive effects on future surpluses.

The weakness of the soil bank program is its expedience and its failure to touch upon the essence of the farm problem. This essence is that farm products are underpriced. Farming nor any other business can survive underpricing, economies, administration or efficiency to the contrary notwithstanding. Thus far the open market has shown no capacity for relieving the farmer's plight, and certainly the federal program as the Republican party has conducted it is doing no better.

"Oh, That's Only For Nice People"

DREW PEARSON

Ike A Foe Of Rockefeller

WASHINGTON—The men around Nelson Rockefeller and Dwight D. Eisenhower are very loath to discuss it, but there was one overriding reason for Rockefeller's bow-out from the race for president. That reason was Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Two lesser reasons had something to do with it—the opposition of GOP leaders and ex-Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. But Eisenhower's secret but very definite opposition to the man who once served as a member of his staff was the one compelling reason which caused Rockefeller to ditch, almost without warning, the most elaborate preparations any candidate had ever made for winning the presidency.

Up until Christmas Day there was never any doubt in the mind of the small army of Rockefeller advisers that their man was going to run and run hard. He had staffed two buildings, at 20 and 22 West Fifty-Fifth Street in New York, with elaborate political, research, and speech-writing experts.

But suddenly this intricate organization, together with all the personal ambition of the hard-driving young governor of New York, went up in smoke.

The reason: The man Rockefeller once served in the White House had passed out the word that he was against him. He had especially passed the word to Tom Dewey, the man who so effectively pulled the political wires to nominate Eisenhower at the 1952 GOP convention and whom Rockefeller needed to do the same for him in 1960.

With the private word from both Eisenhower and Dewey that they were opposed to Rockefeller, his carefully enlisted organization at 20 and 22 West Fifty-Fifth Street became as useless as the 20th Century limited without a locomotive.

Word that Ike was against him was not entirely new to Nelson. He knew of the President's opposition beginning from the period when, as a White House adviser he vigorously battled for greater American military strength to cope with Russia's growing power. Rockefeller felt so strongly on this subject that he tried to get appointed to the Defense Department where he could do something about it.

Finally in 1957 he was offered the job of deputy secretary of Defense. But Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, the book-keeper who set defense policy, used his powerful influence with the President to block the appointment. Humphrey complained that Rockefeller did not have the proper reverence for the budget and would spend more for defense than the country could afford. As usual, Ike listened to his fiscal adviser. He withdrew the offer of deputy secretary of defense.

DORIS FLESON

Rockefeller Not Wholly Detached

WASHINGTON—The political future of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York is strictly in Albany at present, with a strong possibility that it will remain there for some time.

The curbstone reaction of Republican politicians, who seemed somewhat stunned by their bloodless coup, was to renew their suggestion that he would make their favorite Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, a good vice-president. This reaction is doubtless compounded of two parts in about equal measure.

One is that Rockefeller's quick capitulation emphasizes the rough treatment his wholly legitimate aspirations received from the party leaders under the direction of the vice-president. It was as subtle as a kick in the teeth and allowed the voters no choice in the decision. In a free country this is, apart from moral considerations, bad public relations.

The other is that it needed no very prolonged reflection to realize that a Republican presidential candidate who does not carry New York is in mortal danger. A Democrat can fall back on the South for votes to counteract New York and so make out if he can win other pivotal states. This former President Truman did in 1948.

It is generally accepted that Thomas E. Dewey's conspicuous party-going in Washington last week with the Nixons indicated that Dewey knew of Rockefeller's intention to withdraw. Dewey's self-confidence indicates also that he feels Nixon can win New York on the peace and prosperity issue, even if Rockefeller and his friends should pout. This may be so but it is not certain.

Rockefeller did not mention Nixon in his withdrawal statement, nor did he promise him unqualified support. But he permitted himself no bitterness nor personalities; he remained determined as he was on his fruitless travels to behave well no matter what others do.

He has had to concede that in his attitudes and statements, more particularly in the long formal speeches he delivers so badly, there is much implicit criticism of Eisenhower, Nixon and administration policy. Republicans satisfied with the status quo thus had real reason to oppose Rockefeller. He perceived that, of course; what surprised him was that in view of the low estate of the party and what he regards as the clear and present dangers of today's world they were so satisfied.

He has from the start been plain and emphatic about not wanting the vice-presidency. It would force him into a campaign defending policies with which he does not agree. Nor does he lack conceit and there is a faint flavor of bone-tossing about the second-place talk from those who have just forced him to bite the dust.

His present intention is not to respond, but to await 1964. It is not necessarily his final answer.

MARQUIS CHILDS

1960—Cereemonial Year

WASHINGTON—If a picture was worth a thousand words in the China of antiquity, today, as multiplied by television, it must be worth not less than a million words. On this new, updated ratio the Eisenhower administration has operated its extremely effective public relations program.

Surely no president has ever before had his image so widely projected. This is one measure of what has happened to the presidency under the present incumbent.

More and more the stress has been on the ceremonial side of the office. The President is at his most appealing best when he steps out in the role of friend of all the world. He is doing what comes naturally for him as a man of action who has always believed that if only people could sit down and talk to each other they could reconcile their differences.

In 1960 he will be on stage as head of state in the first six months at least as much as in the recent past. In the first part of the year a series of state visits will mean the round of dinners, lunches and flowery speeches that mark such occasions. Then in April he will go to Europe for a meeting of the Western heads of government, to be followed by a summit conference with Soviet Russia.

Perhaps before that he will work in a visit to Latin America. Brazil has invited the presidents of all the American states to come down for the formal inauguration of the new capital, Brasilia. This may occur in February. President Eisenhower would use the opportunity to stop at several other Latin-American capitals, although obviously he could not visit them all. There have been reports of a possible flying tour of the Far East. While this has not been definitely ruled out, it is hard to see how the President could go to the larger capitals, such as Tokyo and Manila, without making every stop. To skip some and visit others would give offense. The White House schedule prior to the political conventions does not seem to allow time.

In June he goes to Moscow to return Premier Khrushchev's visit to this country. Granted nothing happens to undo the "atmosphere of Camp David," that should be a gala occasion. With the blessing of the Kremlin the natural friendliness of the Russian people will manifest itself in a great outpouring. The pictorial possibilities—the massed crowds, the magnificence of a Kremlin reception—are limitless and particularly if the President takes his grandchildren with him, as Khrushchev urged him to do.

The consensus of most observers is that this is good medicine for the President's party. The peace issue, as symbolized by Eisenhower, will be played to the hilt in the New Year by the Republicans. And the principal beneficiary most surely will be Vice-President Nixon, who now certainly will be the Republican nominee for president since Governor Rockefeller's decision not to run.

But, while it may be good for the President and good for his party, doubts must be entered on the score of the presidency itself. Because he has not elected to use them, the great powers inherent in the office, and this is true particularly on the domestic side, have been diminished. As with an arm or any other part of the body that is unused, the office during the seven Eisenhower years has been impaired.

The classic example, of course, is the steel strike. One can hardly imagine a Theodore Roosevelt or a Franklin Roosevelt or, for that matter, a Woodrow Wilson sitting by without making a vigorous, direct personal effort to end the dispute. If it is resumed in the new year, as now seems likely, Congress will intervene and with consequences that may be harmful to both labor and management in the years ahead. In his statement at the time he invoked the 80-day clause of the Taft-Hartley act the President, in effect, invited Congress to find a solution if there should be no settlement during the cooling-off period.

The steel strike is not an isolated instance. Again and again the President has interpreted his role as that of friend of both sides, unwilling to risk his personal prestige or the powers of the office by taking a stand.

This may well be one reason for his wide popularity. He has made few enemies. But it must seem at times that while he admirably fulfills the ceremonial role, which is an arduous part of the presidency, he has ignored the other and far more important role, which is to be prime minister as well as constitutional monarch. His successor, preparing to take over the office just one year hence will be giving solemn thought to the relationship between the exercise of power and the show of power and what has happened to the presidency in the Eisenhower years.

Cancer Facts

Lincoln, Neb.

With all the ado over ways and means of contracting cancer by food sprays, chickens specially fed to increase meat weight, and cow's milk infected by the animals consuming treated pasture growth, one might begin to wonder how we have survived at all.

Cancer really is not a disease. It is chiefly harmful because it occurs in the body where its growth cannot be controlled. It is a parasite thriving upon healthy cells. It is noteworthy that when a substance is injected into the blood stream which the cancer cells do not like to feed upon, the cancer cells die. Also by artificial feeding, these infectious cells of a deceased woman were kept alive from 1931 to 1954.

The human structure is composed of tissues built up in an orderly honeycomb of living cells. We grow by cell division controlled by nature. Normally, tissues are replaced when they wear out or for other special reasons.

Sometimes, for unknown reasons a cell goes berserk, dividing and multiplying in a disorderly, uncontrolled manner. When science discovers why this explosion occurs, the long-sought key to the cure will have been discovered. This runaway group of cells centers within a given point. If a competent specialist is consulted at once, the cure can be brought about through the use of surgery, x-ray, radium or by a gas produced by radium called radon. This is implanted in infected areas in tiny capsules known as seeds. There are no secret cures, pills, salves, or powders that people sometimes waste precious time and money upon. An open sore, under-skin lump that grows, unusual horseness or bleeding demand the early accurate diagnosis of the best specialist.

After the malignant cells detach from the original point of growth, they begin over again to multiply and divide and enter the body fluids. By this method the cancerous cells are carried to all parts of the body. They settle in various points, begin to feed upon healthy cells until the organ attacked is deprived of its functions and the person expires. Leukemia is when the red blood corpuscles are being consumed faster than they can replace themselves.

Lung cancer kills some 25,000 persons a year. Any place where the air is heavy with factory or other smokes is a breeding spot. Los Angeles has been greatly concerned and has vainly sought methods to purify the thick blankets of smog that settle in the pocket-like lowlands at the mountainous areas.

The waxy coating or dry cleaner of the tobacco leaves originate the harmful tars inhaled from cigarette smoking, while the coarsely cut tobaccos produce heat of a high and harmful temperature for constant inhaling.

Cancer is not given or taken. It is not inherited, in spite of the fact that several in succeeding generations may develop it. It has been presumed that it is rather the laws of probability, for cancer is quite common, as statistics have shown.

The only way to wipe out this killer is yearly examinations by specialists, and heeding the little red flags of danger that the body sends out.

Boyle Influence

Hays Center, Neb.

Who is this Bernie Boyle who is attempting to run the state government? This is indeed a question that must be answered before the electorate journeys to the polls.

In 1952 Nebraska held a presidential primary. Sen. Estes Kefauver was victorious and Nebraska delegates were morally bound to cast their votes for him at the national Democratic convention. Yet Boyle and his puppets betrayed Nebraska to vote for Robert Kerr, the man Kefauver defeated in Nebraska's primary.

In 1958 Boyle invited Sen. Humphrey to Nebraska to speak at a Boyle-sponsored dinner. The national committee told Humphrey that the proceeds were to go to Morrison and Humphrey agreed to talk. However, when the senator found that this was a lie and in fact the proceeds were for someone else's campaign fund, Humphrey found an excuse and refused to appear.

This man, Boyle, has made every attempt to become a dictator and make political capital of his position. Until his political influence is abolished, Nebraskans will continue to sacrifice progress for material benefit to Boyle.

West German Government Worried By Recent Rash Of Anti-Semitic Incidents

Bonn, Germany (AP) — An outbreak of anti-Semitism with grim Nazi overtones, has Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government worried.

Two new reports of anti-Semitic acts were received here Tuesday as authorities moved against the Christmas Eve desecrations of a synagogue and a memorial to Nazi victims in Cologne.

In Rheydt, police said swastikas were painted or scratched on windows of several stores Christmas night. The word pig accompanied the swastikas on the window of a shop owned by a Jew.

Newspapers also reported that an 80-year-old survivor of a Nazi concentration camp received an anonymous threat in Seligenstadt, near Frankfurt.

some new synagogue in the chancellor's home town of Cologne. "Out with the Jews" was painted on the walls.

Jewish leaders were disturbed about this black eye for German prestige.

Three members of the neo-Nazi German Reich Party are under arrest in connection with the synagogue desecration.

Air 'Poisoned'

Issak Hamburger told Seligenstadt police he was warned that he and all other Jews in Germany were to die "so that your Jewish breath does not longer poison the air."

Bonn is full of rumors of a dramatic move by the government, perhaps against political parties of the radical right, perhaps former Nazis in positions of authority.

No one in a responsible position would confirm these rumors. But they persist.

Walls Daubed

Adenauer was pictured as dismayed by the Christmas Eve desecration of a hand-

Their homes were found to contain swastikas and similar emblems of the Hitler period. One of the 3 greeted newsmen with a "Heil Hitler" salute.

Adenauer's government has threatened to ban the party if it can be proved responsible for the Cologne incident.

The party, which has a membership of about 20,000 has denied responsibility and ousted the two members.

There are now only 30,000 Jews in West Germany. Before Hitler came to power there were half a million. Many of those died in the Nazi terror.

TOMARCHIN... Won't Surrender Chimp

Chimpanzee Surrenders, Plans Fight

Miami (UPI) — Animal trainer Robert Tomarchin, an orphan whose only "family" was his chimpanzee, surrendered to authorities Tuesday but would not give up the chimp he is accused of kidnapping from the St. Louis Zoo.

The 27-year-old trainer told authorities he had hidden his talking ape, Mr. Moke, and would fight to keep the chimp from going back to a zoo cell in the wintry north.

Tomarchin, scar-faced wanderer of the world's remote corners, reared Mr. Moke from infancy and taught the ape to say "No" and "Mama" for the delight of young television viewers.

Because he had to make a trip to the South Seas, Tomarchin sold Mr. Moke to the St. Louis Zoo for $1,600. He said he was barely out of St. Louis when he realized he could not part with Moke. He tried to buy Moke back. Turned down, he spirited the chimp from the zoo.

The FBI has been searching for Tomarchin ever since. He surrendered Tuesday and was charged with second degree burglary.

Tomarchin said he would keep Moke hidden and fight extradition to Missouri.

"I realize now that I made a mistake but I just wanted to have Mr. Moke with me again," Tomarchin said. "I will pay the St. Louis Zoo twice the money they gave me for him."

St. Louis, Mo. (UPI) — St. Louis Zoo director George Vierheller said Tuesday night he intended to get Mr. Moke back.

"There will be no deal," Vierheller said. "I want Mr. Moke back."

Busy Omaha Slate Set For Kennedy

Sen. John Kennedy will appear at a noon luncheon, deliver a major afternoon farm speech and meet with supporters at an evening rally when he visits Omaha Jan. 27.

Among other events on the crowded Kennedy schedule are a morning press conference; a meeting with Nebraska labor leaders; a coffee for women sponsored by Nebraskans for Kennedy, and an additional evening appearance before a service club.

The rally—under the direction of State Sen. John Munnely—will be held in South Omaha.

Farm Speech

Kennedy's farm speech will be delivered before a convention of implement dealers.

The senator—who is expected to enter the Nebraska presidential preference primary—will fly to Omaha from Washington, returning to the Capitol following his evening appearances.

Kennedy, who will announce his presidential plans next month, will probably be handed sufficient signatures to place his name on the Nebraska ballot while he is in Omaha.

Written Consent

"Written consent" is required before the senator's name could be entered on the ballot.

The Omaha appearance is Kennedy's fourth trip to Nebraska in the past 6 months. He will probably be in Lincoln again shortly before the May 10 primary if he enters the race.

GOV. BROWN... Says He's Not A Candidate

Favorite Son Role All That Brown Seeks

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown practically scratched himself from the Democratic presidential sweepstakes Tuesday.

He said he won't run for the party's presidential nomination except as favorite son from California.

He said he won't accept the vice presidential nomination.

The only thing that might change his plans, Brown told newsmen, is a challenge by some other candidate for control of California's 81 votes at the Democratic convention.

In that case, he said, he might enter primaries in other Western states.

Brown said he knew 6 months ago what Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York found out after touring the country — that you must devote most of your time and hire a big staff to run for president.

Just A Beginner

"They're not going to take a freshman governor from California unless he does some of the things Rockefeller did," Brown said.

"I intend to stay right here on the job in California."

Ex-Rackets Chief Will Visit State

... Around Jan. 9

Robert F. Kennedy, former chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee, will appear in either Lincoln or Omaha on or about Jan. 9, The Star learned Tuesday.

Kennedy—brother of Sen. John Kennedy who is expected to enter the Nebraska presidential preference primary next May—may speak on the University of Nebraska campus, it was understood.

He holds a standing invitation to appear before NU Young Democrats in Lincoln. Brother John attracted a capacity crowd to a Saturday morning convocation at the University two years ago.

Robert will meet with district and county chairmen and workers who have labored in behalf of his brother's likely campaign in Nebraska while he is in the state.

He also plans a news conference.

Robert managed John's 1952 senatorial campaign.

Soviet Polar Unit Leaves U.S. Base

Moscow (UPI)—Sixteen Soviet Antarctic explorers left the South Pole Tuesday after spending 3 days at the American station there, Tass news agency reported.

The expedition, traveling in two giant vehicles, now will move to Soviet Antarctic station "Vostok."

The expedition will continue scientific studies in the Antarctic during 1960.

The U.S. government first minted five cent pieces in 1794. Today Americans spend the equivalent of 68,000,000 five cent pieces a day for their newspapers.

Dear Abby-- Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I met a nice looking man about six years ago. He told me he wasn't married and I believed him. He gave me his telephone number and told me that if I ever called him and a woman's voice answered it was his sister and he didn't want her to know his business. He said he loved me and he begged me to marry him. I was about ready to say yes when I was pulled into a big scandal. He was married and his wife was suing him for divorce and she said I was the cause of it. I didn't know this man had a wife. He's dirtied up my name in town. What can I do to him to teach him a lesson? I am 59 and he is 65.

TAKEN FOR A FOOL
DEAR TAKEN: (And you were taken): Leave the "punishment" to his wife. And never mind the "lesson" — he's about ready to graduate.

DEAR ABBY: Here is our problem. We know that a girl who has followed the straight and narrow is entitled to wear white when she gets married. If the man she is marrying is a divorced man, can the girl still wear white when she walks down the aisle? I say she can. Am I right?

MRS. M. G.
DEAR MRS. M. G.: She can and you are.

DEAR ABBY: Will you do an old lady a favor and ask some of the young men who live away from home to write in and tell how much it costs them to live? We have two sons (24 and 27) and they both live at home. For free. I keep their rooms clean and do their laundry (always 24 or 25 shirts a week). They holler if I don't have steaks or chops every night.

They each have to support an automobile so they can't pay anything at home. They say that unless parents are on welfare nobody pays room and board any more. It seems like WE are paying THEM to stay with us. Are we crazy or are they?

MA AND PA
DEAR MA AND PA: They are crazy — like a couple of foxes. BOYS don't pay room and board... but MEN do. If your sons think they can get room, board and laundry for less than $25.00 a week, let them try it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO UPSET MOTHER: Don't believe everything you hear about "school" and "teachers". The public school doors are open to parents who wish to visit any time without notice. It's too bad some parents prefer to stay at home and believe the worst rather than to visit schools and learn the truth.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FIVE FOOT TWO EYES OF BLUE: You have already said "I DO" — so DON'T!

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

KITCHEN PIN-UP

Here's a filling, low cost supper dish that can be a time saver for you when you're too busy with holiday baking and cooking to prepare an elaborate meal. You won't need more than a tossed salad and hot rolls with it.

MEAT BALL BAKE

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 1/4 pounds ground beef | 1 6-ounce can tomato paste |
| 1 1/4 teaspoons salt | 2 teaspoons soy sauce |
| 1/2 teaspoon pepper | Few drops hot pepper sauce |
| Flour | 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper |
| 2 tablespoons butter | 7-ounce package elbow macaroni, cooked |
| 1 small onion, chopped | 1/2 cup grated process American cheese |
| 1 clove garlic, crushed | |
| 1 1/4 cups milk | |
| 1 can condensed mushroom soup, undiluted | |

Mix together beef and seasonings. Shape into 12 balls. Roll in flour; brown in butter. Remove from fry pan. Cook onion and garlic in drippings for 5 minutes. Add milk, mushroom soup, tomato paste, soy sauce, hot pepper sauce and seasonings. Alternate layers of macaroni and sauce in a buttered 8-inch square baking pan. Sprinkle with cheese. Arrange meat balls on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves 6.

Opening lead — king of spades.

It is easier to sink a two-foot putt in golf than a ten-footer, and it is easier to make some contracts in bridge than others. For a hand difficult to make at the table, when the lie of the opponents' cards is unknown, we cite this one.

West hands, that South could have made the contract by finessing the ten of hearts on the second trump lead. However, this play smacks of hindsight, and can hardly be justified without taking a peek at the adverse holdings. Certainly, in the long run, it would not be advisable for declarer to finesse against the jack with his particular heart holding.

But declarer could, and should have made the hand. When the club is returned, declarer's only concern is the possible loss of a trump trick. This can occur only if the cards are divided 4-1 (or 5-0). He should take whatever steps are possible to overcome the 4-1 trump break.

If West has the four hearts, nothing can be done; but if East has them, a trump coup can be arranged. So, at trick five, South leads a diamond to the ace and ruffs a diamond. Then he cashes the king of hearts, continues with a heart to the ace, and discovers the trump situation.

The precautions taken pay dividends. Another diamond is ruffed, reducing declarer to the Q-10 of hearts and the Q-J of clubs. Both clubs are cashed, ending in dummy.

When a diamond is then led from dummy, East, holding the J-9 of hearts, must trump, and South wins the last two tricks with the Q-10. It pays to plan the play.

ASK— Dorothy Draper

I was walking down Fifth Avenue recently when suddenly I saw the most attractive young woman coming toward me, not pretty but outstandingly, almost dramatically chic. She wore a black suit, smartly cut, black shoes, beige stockings and gloves, and a high toque with bands of satin stripes in black, green, grape, tangerine and beige. A crisp matching scarf, was knotted at her throat. Shiny gold bracelets tinkled at her wrist. I immediately translated this costume into a room. I saw the beige stockings and gloves as Tawny Beige walls, the black suit as a luxurious sofa, the bright, traffic-light-green stripe as two green chairs, the grape and tangerine stripes as spicy pillow accents on the black sofa. The gold bracelets became shiny brass andirons and the glint in the picture frames. Try this sometime. You might get some good ideas for your own home!

Mrs. C. P. asks:
"What impression would you get if you were to walk into a room with light gray walls and a shrimp colored sectional sofa? I have pictures of hand painted cockatoos and snowy egret birds with a green background. I like color but I don't want to be brash. I saw a shrimp sofa but I was afraid to buy it for fear of doing the wrong decorating thing. Do you think the sofa would be too much color?"

Dear Mrs. C. P.:
Definitely not! And if you sprinkled the shrimp color around on the curtains and two small chairs my impression (as you say) would be "What a charming, cheery room!" And the only way to cure that fear of "doing the wrong decorating thing" is to like an idea, visualize your room, and then, full speed ahead!

Mrs. N.Y.G. asks:
"What do you think of these Early American or Modern pieces, desks, bookcases, chests, etc. that fit together to give a built-in look?"

Dear Mrs. N.Y.G.:
I think that they are a most practical invention of the age, especially for a small apartment or house. They give a room a pleasant feeling of unity and offer such marvelous storage space. I'm all for them!

Mrs. F.H.S. asks:
"What is your favorite color?"

Dear Mrs. F.H.S.:
I love colors that make you feel happy to look at them. The reds, yellows, greens, blues—but then I love black and beige and white too. I guess I just love color!

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

Speaking of New Year's Eve, we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Lee Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Gruhn will be co-hostesses at a holiday party Thursday evening when they entertain at the Adams' home. Should be a doubly festive occasion as both hosts will be celebrating recent birthdays.

Invited for the party and midnight supper are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Finningsmier, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kendle, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. James Zimmer and Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Jennings.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Davis (Virginia Seacrest, Kappa Delta at the University of Nebraska) and their two daughters, Paddy Ann and Kathy, of Rockford, Ill., arrived in Lincoln on Dec. 17 for a week's visit with Mrs. Davis' parents, Mr. and

Former Coed, Bride

MRS. HAROLD LEE JEWETT

Lighted white candles and arrangements of poinsettias formed the background in the Waverly Methodist Church Tuesday evening, Dec. 1, for the wedding of Miss Dawna Ruth Jeffrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dale Jeffrey, and Harold Lee Jewett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Jewett, all of Waverly. The Rev. Lewis Schultz read the lines of the service.

Wearing waltz-length frocks of red velvet and head banded of white fur were Mrs. Ramon Johnson of Ceresco, as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Rae Gable and Miss Mary Louise Jeffrey, sister of the bride, Waverly. They carried holly-trimmed muffs of white fur. Lloyd Jeffrey and Jenny Sue Jeffrey, brother and sister of the bride, lighted the candles, and the flower girl was Laurie Johnson. Mike Ensminger was the ring-bearer.

Harlan Hoy of Waverly served as best man, and the ushers were Louis Dale Jeffrey, Jr., brother of the bride, Ramon Johnson and Don Ensminger.

The bride's gown of white silk taffeta was trimmed with Venise lace re-embroidered with pearls and sequins. The lace bordered the rounded neckline of the long-sleeved bodice, and was repeated above side fullness on the wide skirt which extended into a train. Her illusion veil was held by a coronet of jeweled lace, and she carried an arrangement of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewett, both former students at the University of Nebraska, will live on a farm near Waverly. The bride also has attended Hastings College, and Mr. Jewett is a former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Annual Christmas Ball Is A Festive Occasion

The gala Christmas Ball, held each year for high school young people, at the Lincoln Country Club, was an event of Tuesday evening.

Hostesses not pictured are Janie Garlinghouse and Stevie Dort.

BSP Party

Mrs. Arnold Bartlett was hostess last week to the members of Lambda Chapter, BETA SIGMA PHI, at the group's annual Christmas party.

Following a program, "People," presented by Mrs. Melvin Dudley, the members exchanged gifts revealing secret sisters of the past year.

The group sang carols, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Bartlett assisted by Mrs. Jack Albert and Mrs. Ray Watts.

Among the many informal affairs which were held preceding the Christmas Ball was a cocktail party given by Miss Marie Phelan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

John T. Phelan, at her home.

INDIAN VILLAGE

Mrs. Leslie Seacrest.

On Dec. 23, Mr. and Mrs. Seacrest entertained at a Christmas dinner, and the guests included the Davis family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Seacrest, and Suzie, George and Bill Seacrest of Firth.

On Christmas Eve Mr. and Mrs. Davis and their daughters motored to Kearney to spend several days with Mr. Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Davis.

The Davis family will be returning home via Lincoln today.

Holiday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Mulligan were Mrs. Mulligan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Welsh of Sidney, and her brother, Bill Mulligan, who is attending the University of Nebraska. The Welsh couple returned home on Tuesday after a six-day visit in the suburb.

Motoring to North Platte for Christmas were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Berreckman and their son. The family visited with Mr. Berreckman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ellis.

Wedding On Tuesday

Miss Emma Lou Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Wivell of North Platte, became the bride of George Wilcox of Lincoln, son of Mrs. Ruth Wilcox of Cleveland, O., formerly of Lincoln, at an afternoon ceremony solemnized on Tuesday, Dec. 29. All white blossoms appointed the altar of the Church of Our Savior, Episcopal, at North Platte, for the 2 o'clock service, which was read by the Rev. William Cross of Lincoln.

The matron of honor and bride's only attendant was Mrs. Gayle H. Lewis of North Platte who wore a daytime frock of brown sheer wool. Her bouquet was fashioned of white roses.

Douglas Wilcox of Seattle, Wash., served his brother as best man, and seating the guests was Bruce Becker of North Platte.

We Hear That

In Lincoln to spend the Christmas holidays are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Dietz and their children, Michael and Debby, of Scottsdale, Ariz., who formerly resided in Lincoln. During their stay, the visitors are the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Dietz and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gobber.

IDEA OF THE WEEK FROM JANUARY BETTER HOMES & GARDENS

PUT THAT OLD TABLE BACK INTO SERVICE WITH A BRAND NEW, LONG WEARING TOP

It's done with small squares of vinyl tile pre-mounted on a sturdy paper backing.

Cut a piece of hardwood as large as your table top. Route out a square the size of the tile mat, about half the tile thickness. Spread tile cement generously on routed area. Lay the tile mat, backing and all, keeping about 1/16th-inch clearance on all sides. Roll the tiles smooth.

Sand edges of table top, apply plywood edging tape to match top veneer. Remove tape backing and apply solvent with a small brush. Stick tape to edge and press down with a hot iron.

After finishing rest of top, work grout into the spaces between tiles. Remove excess grout with damp sponge. Finish tiles with non-yellowing varnish.

'She Shot My Mother!' Police Still Seek 'She'

By Robert T. Loughran

Chicago (UPI)—For 16 years now, the nation's top detectives have looked for "the woman in Room 836."

It was the middle of the cocktail hour, that cold Jan. 19, 1944, when wealthy, witty, sophisticated Mrs. Adele Swabaker Born Williams, 54, wife of a diplomat, was mortally wounded at close range in her room at the exclusive Drake Hotel.

Her daughter, poised, attractive, widely-traveled Mrs. Patricia Born Goodbody, 28, saw the killing. "Stop that crazy woman," she screamed, running into the hall. "She shot my mother."

Nine hours later, detectives found the murder gun in a corner of the hotel's rear service stairway. Earlier, police had combed the same stairway and found nothing. Mrs. Goodbody said she and her mother had entered the room late that afternoon and suddenly were accosted by a woman wearing a black Persian lamb coat and a red flower in her hair.

Fires, Says Nothing

Without saying a word, the woman stepped from behind a bathroom door and began shooting. Mrs. Goodbody said.

Mrs. Williams lived long enough to gasp that the mysterious woman wore a black coat and "something red" in her hair. Then she lapsed into a coma. She died the next night.

The Drake Hotel mystery has become a classic of old-school intrigue. There never has been an arrested suspect, an announced motive, or a valid clue. The gun, a 1910 .38 caliber model, proved untraceable.

"The case still is open," Chicago homicide chief George Buckley says. "Sure it's been 16 years but we checked out a clue on it as recently as October. Just where do we go from here, though?"

Three weeks after the killing Detective Lt. John Quinn told an inquest he doubted there had ever been any intruder in Room 836. He accused Mrs. Goodbody of her mother's murder. Other police called his charge "absurd and fantastic." The thought was not voiced again.

The night of Jan. 19, Mrs. Williams and Patricia returned together to the Drake from a hairdresser's.

Presence Indicated

Patricia said she and her mother began changing clothes in their suite when Patricia noticed a movement behind a bathroom door.

"Mother, is anyone else in this apartment?" Patricia said she asked.

At that, Patricia said the mysterious woman walked from behind the bathroom door and fired.

Two salesmen, leaving Room 846, said they heard shots and saw a woman "with a black Persian lamb coat and a touch of red in her hair" walk from 836. By the time they heard Patricia scream, however, the woman had disappeared.

A bellboy said he, too, had seen a woman walking from 836. Then, without explanation, he said he was wrong. An ambulance intern said Mrs. Williams had muttered: "I thought she was using blanks. I saw the flame . . . oh, why did she do it?"

"Only if a woman knew the person holding a gun would she think it was loaded with blanks," Police Capt. Frank Reynolds said. The point, however, never was pursued.

Tax Commissioner Names Daugherty As Chief Aide

State Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson announced Tuesday he has designated W. E. "Pat" Daugherty as assistant tax commissioner, and Dean Hascall as field co-ordinator.

Daugherty was appointed to an untitled post in the Tax Commission early in November by Gov. Ralph Brooks prior to the appointment of Johnson as tax chief to succeed Fred Herrington who resigned effective Dec. 15.

Hascall, who has been with the Tax Commissioner's office since early 1957 and special investigator since June, 1958, will assume the new duties in addition to his present work, Johnson said.

$5,700 Annually

Now receiving a salary of $5,700 annually, Hascall's remuneration may be increased, the tax commissioner said.

Establishing the new classification of field co-ordinator is the result of Johnson's intention to have "more co-ordination and more direct contact" between his field men and county assessors.

In line with this policy, Johnson said, he is going to set up a calendar of district meetings with field men and assessors starting two weeks after the Jan. 1 assessment date.

The tax commissioner said he thought that by that time a lot of questions may have come up about the 1960 assessments, and that it would be helpful to the assessors to give them uniform answers.

Benefit Assessors

It is also expected the district meetings will be of benefit to assessors through an exchange of their experiences, he added.

On other personnel matters, Johnson said, it is his plan to have an employee of the office in a research capacity. The person hired for this position will take the place of Jerry Snyder who has resigned effective Dec. 31 to enter private law practice in Lincoln.

Snyder's work, which has been in the area of small loan and finance companies and savings and loan companies, will be handled by Daugherty, Johnson said.

Helpless Father Sees Son Drown

Seal Beach, Calif. (AP)—A father who can't swim watched helplessly Tuesday as his 13-year-old son was swept to his death by a big wave.

Thomas Jenkins, 61, plunged into the water, almost drowned, and then clambered back on the rocks. The tide carried the boy, Jimmy, to sea.

City Indebtedness Drops $301,710 During 1958-59

Lincoln's bonded indebtedness decreased by $301,710 to $16,958,780 during the 1958-59 fiscal year and cash balances increased by $1,005,462 to $7,162,743.

This was shown by an independent audit of City Treasurer Frank Miller's office and records made by VanBoskirk, Remington Fry & Associates for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31.

The Lincoln auditing firm reported that available cash balance was only $108 in excess of the total required.

Major Bond Issues

Major bond issues outstanding were water revenue, $7.8 million; special assessment, $1.7 million; municipal auditorium building, $1.1 million; storm sewer, $3.1 million, and sanitary sewer revenue, $2.4 million.

The cash balance of $7.1 million represented "idle funds" investments of $5,554,426 in U.S. government obligations and $2,313,321 in investments owned by specific funds.

Total interest earned on all investments was $145,196, of which $109,595 was distributed as idle funds earnings.

Various Funds

Distribution included $43,914 to the special assessment fund, $13,480 to the general fund, $14,313 to water revenue, and $5,841 to commercial light. Smallest was $32.86 to the sidewalk special assessment fund.

Finance Director James Mallon attributed the major increase in cash balances to $7.1 million to the fact that some $600,000 in special assessment warrants were not called during year. Mallon said the warrants were left outstanding pending passage of a charter amendment in 1958 to clarify procedures for issuance of special assessment bonds.

Helga Favored

Quebec (AP)—The Danish freighter Helga Dan is favored to win the gold cane for the second straight year as the first ocean-going ship to reach Quebec in the New Year. The 2,095-ton vessel is due here Jan. 2. Last year it was awarded the cane when it arrived Feb. 13.

Downed Airliner Makes Omaha Without Incident

...First Landing On Grass

Omaha (AP)—A 4-engine DC-6, 58-passenger airliner which came down out of the clouds early Monday morning and landed on the grass runway of Council Bluffs Municipal airport instead of the Omaha airport made the 5-mile hop back to Omaha without incident Tuesday.

At 4:05 p.m., United Airlines Flight Manager George Henderson of Chicago and his co-pilot Robert Kramer of Chicago turned the plane around, made a 1,200 foot run against a 15-mile headwind—about one third the length of the runway—and took off. Moments later they landed the big plane at Omaha municipal airport.

The plane had been lightened by draining off all but the minimum load of fuel, and the take-off was delayed un-

West Asks Nikita To May 16 Summit

Augusta, Ga. (AP)—The Western allies officially asked Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Tuesday to attend a summit conference starting May 16.

Khrushchev already has agreed to an East-West session in Paris. The date became a matter of diplomatic dickering.

The latest development was the delivery of similar notes to Khrushchev Tuesday from President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain and President Charles de Gaulle of France.

"Provided that this is acceptable to you," Eisenhower wrote, "the best arrangement would seem to be for the meeting of the 4 Powers to open in Paris on May 16."

The next move is up to Khrushchev, with no advance indication of his reaction to May 16.

Finch-Tregoff Jurors Picked

Los Angeles (AP)—A jury of 6 men and 6 women was chosen Tuesday to try Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his pretty sweetheart, Carole Tregoff, on charges of murder and conspiracy.

The two are accused in the July 18 slaying of the physician's estranged socialite wife, Barbara Jean, 33. The prosecution contends they plotted Mrs. Finch's death so they could marry without sharing the $750,000 Finch estate with her.

It Was Litter

London (AP)—A London court has ruled an old automobile is litter. Peter Wainwright was fined $5.60 and court costs for abandoning an old car with 4 flat tires and no engine. "It's litter," said the prosecutor and a judge agreed.

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another, in this example, A is used for the three I's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

1950-1960 Ranks As Great Decade In Sports

As 1959 draws to a close, and the 1960s loom ahead, the sports fan can say to himself: If the next decade is as exciting as the last one, what a time we'll have.

It's interesting to look back on the frantic 50s. Do you remember how they started?

Well, the New York Yankees won their second straight World Series under Casey Stengel . . . Billy Goodman and Stan Musial were the batting champions . . . Connie Mack retired . . . Nebraska had a 6-2-1 football record and Bobby Reynolds was everybody's All American . . . Willie Hoppe was still a billiard champion . . . Johnny Parsons won the Indianapolis 500 . . . Joe Louis had retired the year before and Ezzard Charles became the heavy-weight champion by beating Jersey Joe Walcott and Louis, who tried a comeback . . . Ben Hogan made a spectacular recovery after a near-fatal auto crash and won the National Open . . . Chandler Harper was the PGA champ . . . Art Larsen, Herbie Flam, Billy Talbert and Nancy Chaffee were big tennis names . . . A fellow named Bill Smith won the AAU 165-pound wrestle crown. He's now Nebraska's mat coach . . . Florence Chadwick was one of 10 persons to swim the English Channel, and set a women's record . . . track stars included Mal Whitfield, Horace Ashenfelter, Bob Richards, Fortune Gordien, Steve Seymour, Don Gehrmann and Bud Held . . . Hill Prince was Horse of the Year.

Yes, it was a quite a start for what was to be an action-packed decade.

High Standards

As the years flew by, excellence became the standard. World track records were broken in every event but the broad jump where Jesse Owens' 1936 mark remained secure . . . Every one of the men and women's world swimming records fell . . . the U.S. won the 1952 Olympics, then saw Russia take the overall championship in 1956, although American trackmen still remained supreme.

What dramatic years they were . . . the Yankees won 8 of 10 American League pennants and 7 of 10 Series. Iron-

Great Days

But there were pleasant moments . . . two Western League pennants for the Chiefs under Larry Shepard . . . Dick Stuart and 66 home runs . . . a tremendous Nebraska 25-21 win over Oklahoma, ending a 74-game OU winning streak in the Big 8. But still it was Bud Wilkinson and Oklahoma which stole the show in conference football . . . There was the Wilt Chamberlain era at Kansas, and Bill Easton's domination of Big 8 track . . . and who can forget the fast switches by Pete Elliott? . . . NU cagers beat Wilt and No. 1 ranked Kansas State in succession . . .

The list is long, indeed . . . Larsen's first perfect game in a World Series . . . the decline of Andy Vazirapa and the rise to stardom of bowlers like Steve Nagy, Bill Lillard and Don Carter . . . there was a gap left in boxing when Louis left and it couldn't be filled until Rocky Marciano came along. But he retired after 4 years and the void was partially filled by an ill-advised and misused Floyd Patterson. Then came a one-punch Swede named Ingemar Johansson to supply some fresh air . . . the Boston Braves went to Milwaukee and fame . . . the New York Giants went to San Francisco, the Dodgers to Los Angeles . . . the St. Louis Browns moved to Baltimore . . . the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City . . . Bobby Shantz was a 24-game winner and won MVP honors . . . Bob Cerv hit home runs with a broken jaw . . . Nellie Fox became the top second baseman in baseball . . . TV brought sports to everyone on a box seat basis . . .

Pro Grid Boom

There's just no end . . . the rise of pro football was phenomenal . . . Cleveland's Browns won 7 of 10 Eastern Division titles and two world championships, then yielded to a new power—Baltimore . . . and Otto Graham bowed out to be replaced by Johnny Unitas as Mr. Quarterback. Elroy Hirsch retired and Ray Berry became the most-talked about end . . . at Indianapolis the speed marks soared, from 124 mph in 1950 to 135, Sam Hanks' record . . . Nebraska and the Big 8, went through many coaching changes . . . the 60-foot shot put became common place, along with the 15-foot pole vault. And the 7-foot high jump was realized.

By golly, it really was a tremendous decade, and the 1960s give promise of just as much excitement . . . a 3rd major league, another pro football league, the Olympics, perhaps the narrowing of the Big 8 gap between Oklahoma and the Seven Dwarfs, a cleansing of boxing, minor league realignment and many more things.

Chances are the 1960s will be as much fun as the Frantic 50s, but it will take a lot of doing.

Cyclones Drop CU By 55-41

... Gain Finals

Kansas City (AP)—Iowa State's blustery Cyclones broke open the game midway of the second half to defeat Colorado 55-41 and gain a berth in the finals of the Big 8 Conference basketball tournament Tuesday night.

Colorado was in contention until the Cyclones broke into a 45-36 advantage with about 8 minutes remaining.

Iowa State led 27-26 at the half.

Again Iowa State's clever sophomore, Vinnie Brewer, delivered the most effective plays. His 12 points, most of them in the clutch, were high for both teams and he was way ahead in rebounds with 13.

Russ Lind and Frank Javernick each had 11 points for Colorado.

O-State 2nd Half Drops MU, 64-49

Kansas City (AP)—Oklahoma State rallied in the second half to defeat Missouri 64-49 in a losers' bracket game of the Big 8 basketball tournament today.

Dick Seogel led the balanced attack with 12 points.

Oklahoma State trailed Missouri by 6 points, 33-27, at half, but caught the Tigers at 39-39 and was in complete control thereafter.

The Cowboys will play Kansas State for 5th place at 4 today while Missouri tangles with Nebraska for 7th at 2 p.m.

Husker Slump Grows, 71-63

Lincoln Star Special

Municipal Auditorium, Kansas City, Mo.—Fighting to end a slump, Nebraska's Cornhuskers sustained their 7th straight loss while bowing to Kansas State here Tuesday afternoon, 71-63.

It was a far different Nebraska team than that which fell to Colorado in the opening round.

A good crowd of 5,400—primarily Wildcat boosters—sat in as Nebraska led the Wildcats for nearly 30 minutes, then gave way to superior Wildcat height and numbers.

Nebraska meets the Oklahoma State-Missouri loser today at 2 p.m.

Lead At Half

Coach Jerry Bush's gang, fast break, led at halftime by 36-35 and again by 52-50 in the second half.

While 16 free throws helped NU in the first half, officials assessed only 4 fouls on Kansas State in the second half and Nebraska canned just one of the 4 efforts.

"We played a lot better today," Bush declared. "At least we don't have to fear any team in the conference like we used to." Bush has beaten K-State just twice in his 6 years at the NU helm.

"How about that Wall?" he asked.

Late Scoring Light

He was referring to Jan's high archer from mid-court at the end of the game that brought a cheer from the crowd.

There wasn't enough Husker scoring in the final 8 minutes. In fact, only 3 baskets by Wall—who really lived up to expectations—a pair by Al Roots and Hersch Turner's free throw dented the scoring column over that period.

Kansas State led 66-57 when Roots uncorked his two set shots to make it 66-61.

K-State Coach Tex Winter immediately called time and sent his team into a stall for the final 3 minutes. Only Wall's 45-footer cracked the freeze.

Frank Shooting Hurts Kansas State ran into a lot more trouble than expected under the boards as Al Buuck and Bob Harry went to work with a vengeance.

It took a second-half barrage from the outside by Wally Frank (6-8) to cut into the Husker defense.

Nebraska, faced by an almost entire sophomore Wildcat quintet at the start, fell behind by 10 points at 20-10 but fought back and finally wrestled the lead with 2:54 left in the first half at 30-29.

The Cornhuskers held until halftime.

Turner, unable to get the ball in the hoop despite good shots, was held to 3 points in the first half and 7 in the second.

Wall took up the slack with his best college performance. The Lincoln Northeast all-star got 20 points on 6 field goals and 8-9 free throws.

Al Maxey potted 14. Frank wound up with 26 for Kansas State, and soph Mike Wroblewski—also 6-8—had 14.

Rangers Edge Mankato For Prize; NWU 3rd

... Regis 55-53 Victor; Wesleyan Routs OU, 82-51

By Paul LeBar

Resourceful Regis College repaired its defenses and nipped Mankato State 55-53 for the Nebraska Wesleyan Holiday Tournament title Tuesday night.

The classy Coloradans, out-guessed in the first half, recovered from a 35-28 intermission deficit en route to the title.

First Loss

It shot their record to 5-2 for the season and bumped Coach Bill Morris' finely-tuned Minnesotans from the unbeaten at 6.

The thrill-packed finale was viewed by a disappointing crowd of 400 at spacious Pershing Auditorium. Those on hand watched a barn-burner all the way.

Sub Bill Kelly's brace of gifts with 47 seconds left decided the issue, unlocking the 8th deadlock of a defensive battle.

Two Blows

Mankato, its offensive patterns curbed by a shrewd Regis zone, blew two chances in the waning seconds.

The last—by Jerry Flanagan just before the buzzer—followed two misses at the free throw line by Regis smoothie Dennis Boone.

The issue, for all its defensive splendor, was never dull.

Mankato riddled the taller Coloradans' zone in the opening canto when the Rangers'

Louis Stout and James Jones double-teamed jumping John Schultz from behind.

Schultz MVP

Schultz, the tourney's most valuable player, shook loose for 12 points and fed teammates Forrest Meyeraan and Dale Owen for 11 apiece.

Regis, never shooting well against the scrappy Indians, switched tactics after rest period and contained all but Schultz for 13 minutes.

The alert work opened up a 48-45 gap for them with 7:35 to go.

Mankato recovered to go ahead by 53-51 with 3:35 left, but the Minnesotans' points were too hard to come by.

Kelly, a bulky 6-5 sophomore out of Chicago, deuced the count with a jump shot 22 seconds later, then added the clinchers in the closing minute.

Mankato, drilling at 41.2 per cent accuracy in the opening half, succeeded on only 7 of 30 casts (23.3) afterward.

Regis shot 11-for-29 in the first round and 11-for 34 in the second for 34.9 per cent overall.

Frosh sensation Stout led a 37-33 Regis edge off the boards. Schultz (6-5) combed the nets for 23 points and 14 rebounds to hold up Mankato's attack.

They went without a field goal from Gerald Evan's jump at the key with 8:42 expired until Joe Neuberger potted a set with 1:52 gone in the second period.

Angular Rudy Stoehr paced the Plainsmen with 24 points. Neuberger managed 10 for the off-form Omahans, who lost 3 starters via fouls when 51 personals were whistled.

SCHULTZ VOTED MOST VALUABLE

Mankato's Indians garnered top consolation honors when pivot Schultz was selected the cagefest's Most Valuable Player.

Schultz, a stringbean 6-5 junior from Mountain Lake, Minn., toted a 27-point per game average into the tourney and canned 52 for his two nights' work.

He rebounded and passed from his post position with equal skill. Scoring leaders:

Veeck Speaks In Chief Drive

By Don Bryant

Lincoln's Chiefs got a tremendous shot-in-the arm late Tuesday when it was learned that Bill Veeck, co-owner of the Chicago White Sox, will be the keynote speaker for the annual pre-season ticket drive.

A. Q. Schimmel, president of the Chiefs, announced that "Mr. Sportsman" will arrive in Lincoln March 28, and address the Kickoff Breakfast on the morning of March 29.

Following Veeck's acceptance of the invitation to speak here, Schimmel said: "We are indeed grateful that such a busy personality and executive would contribute his time to start 1960 baseball in Lincoln off in such fine fashion. We are sincerely indebted to Mr. Veeck and the White Sox for this momentous opportunity."

The 1960 ticket drive will be conducted for the first time by the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Jaycee Pres. Jim Nissen joined Schimmel in expressing pleasure over Veeck's keynote role.

"The Jaycees could ask for no greater assistance in starting toward our $30,000 pre-season ticket goal," Nissen said. "I'm sure that we can learn a great deal from such a tremendous promoter and salesman."

Veeck, formerly president of the St. Louis Browns and the Cleveland Indians, only last year assumed control of the White Sox, who went on to win their first American League pennant since 1919.

The Three-I League Chiefs are a member of the Chicago family, having a full working agreement with the White Sox.

Veeck, 45, is one of the most renowned promoters in baseball, having introduced such things as midget players, special nights, extravaganzas and numerous other promotions to entertain the fans.

Peru, Baker Gain Finals In Cagefest

Lincoln Star Special

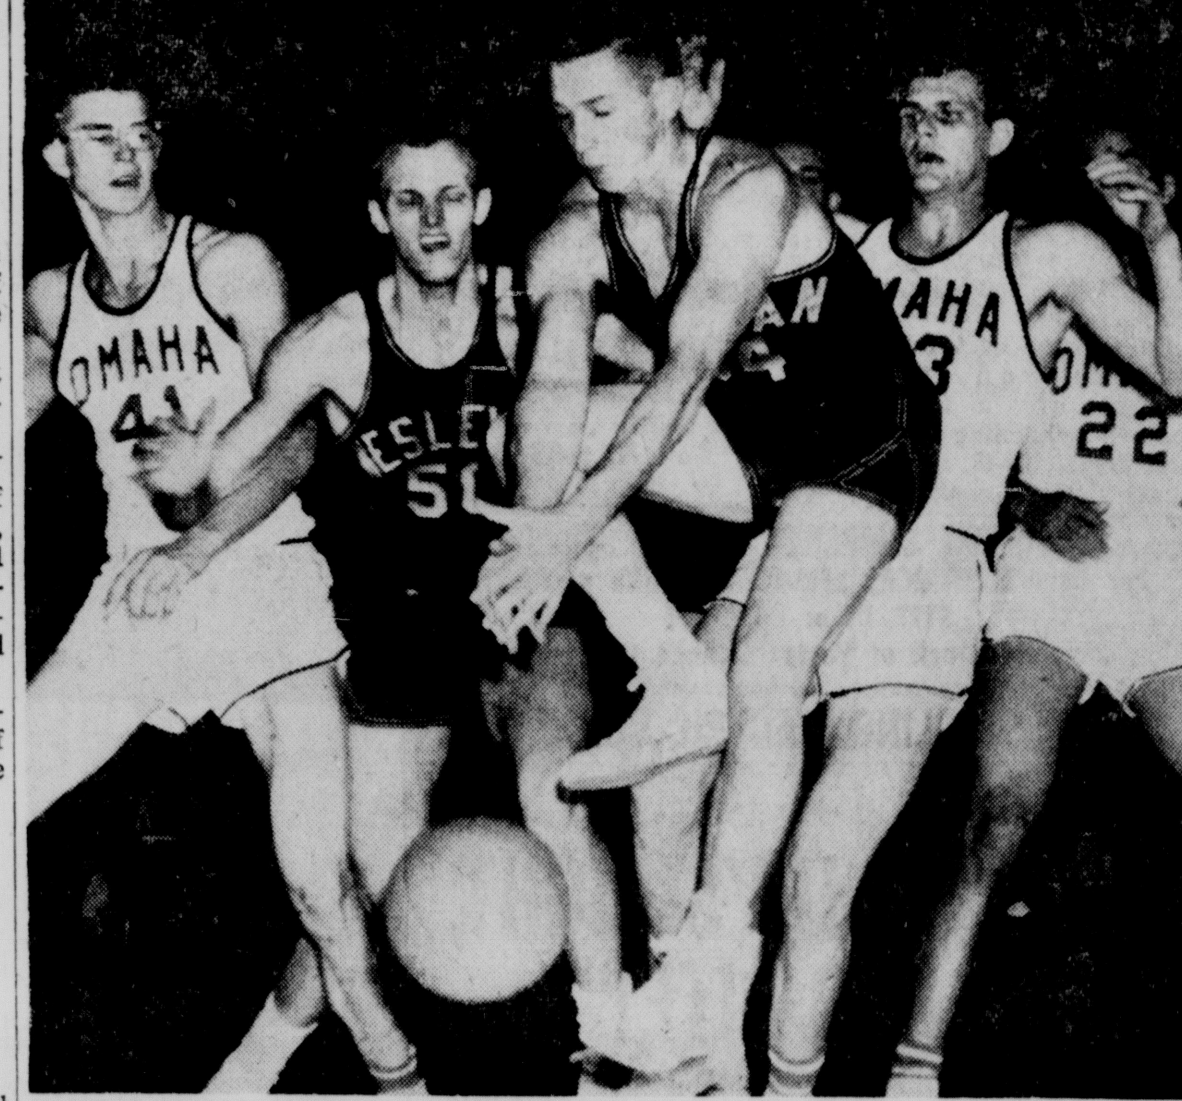

Falls City—Host Peru Teachers and Baker University of Baldwin, Kan. lock horns for the 4-State basketball title here tonight at 8:45.

Drury College of Springfield, Mo. and Simpson College of Indianola, Ia. vie for consolation honors at 7 p.m.

The championship match pits the Nebraska entry against Baker for the 3rd straight year. Peru clouted Drury 102-75 and Baker blasted Simpson 79-64 in semifinals Tuesday night.

All 5 regulars scored in double figures as Peru pulled away from a 46-38 halftime squeeze against Drury. Chuck Francis set the pace with 21, followed by Bob Mayo's 18.

Baker broke away after 5½ minutes and was riding comfortably at 43-30 over Simpson by the half. Jim Kean of Baker led all scorers with 32 points.

—Jayhawks Meet I-State For Title—

KU Trips Okies, 55-54

Kansas City (AP)—The Kansas Jayhawks got their first lead with less than 4 minutes remaining and beat the Oklahoma Sooners 55-54 Tuesday night for a berth in the Big 8 basketball tournament finals.

The Jayhawks, only 4-time winner in the pre-season tournament, will tangle with Iowa State, 55-41 winner over Colorado, for the championship.

Oklahoma had a 9-point lead, 30-21, at the half, and was in command until Kansas got its first tie at 47-47 and went ahead on Wayne Hightowers' short push shot. From that point the Jayhawks managed to keep in front as both clubs fired wildly and inaccurately in the closing minutes.

With Kansas leading 53-52, the Sooners made 4 unsuccessful shots at the goal.

Hightower, a 6-9 sophomore from Philadelphia, and Brian Etheridge, Oklahoma's lanky sophomore from Denver, each scored 17 points.

Hightower and teammate Bill Bridges mastered the backboards for Kansas. Hightower had 16 captures and Bridges 17.

Kansas hit 17 of 18 from the free-throw line.

A capacity crowd of 10,000 watched the action at Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium.

Court Holds Dentist In Pitt Bribe Case

Pittsburgh (AP)—Dr. Edward Sebastian, former instructor in the University of Pittsburgh dental school, Tuesday was held for court on charges of attempting to bribe two Pitt basketball players to fix games.

Dr. Sebastian, a dentist, pleaded innocent. He was released on $5,000 bond by alderman Leonard L. Civill to await grand jury action.

Both players, John Fridley, 20, of Sharon, Pa., and Dick Falenski, 21, of Lathrobe, Pa., testified at the Alderman's hearing. They said Dr. Sebastian, 32, offered them bribes to share points.

'Reasonable' Application Of Boat Law

Nebraska boat owners will have a reasonable time in which to meet the state's new registration and equipment requirements, State Game Commission Director Mel Steen said Tuesday.

"Requirements are so new and strange to the average boat owner that common sense dictates reasonable application of this new law," he said.

A law thoroughly regulating boats and boating and passed by the 1959 legislature takes effect Jan. 1.

The state's boat numbering system has been officially approved by the Coast Guard, Steen noted.

"For most Nebraska boat owners, this step means going from very little regulation to rather exacting requirements. However, the principal purpose of the law is to require safe equipment and safe operation, and safety on the water is priceless."

"Nebraska standards are as good as any, and a boat that has fully complied with Nebraska's requirements will qualify anywhere in the U.S. State laws normally allow reciprocity for boats, just as for motor vehicles."

Ten-Round Go Features Vets

Chicago (AP)—Veteran 30-year-old middleweights Dick Tiger and Holly Mims try to get a winning string going tonight in a 10-round test at Chicago Stadium.

Tiger, a Nigerian who holds the British Empire middleweight crown, and Mims, the Washington, D.C., workhorse with 72 fights to his credit, each come off losing efforts.

The bout will be televised (ABC, 10 p.m. EST) and scored under the 5-point must system.

Aggies, SMU In SWC Final

Houston (AP)—Undeclared Texas A&M and Southern Methodist's fancy playmakers came from behind impressively to grab semifinal victories over Texas and Arkansas and move into the championship round of the Southwest Conference tournament.

Texas A&M, the defending tournament champion, won easily from the Texas Longhorns, 84-74.

A 10-point second half spree by Steve Strange, 6-foot-7 junior from Dallas, sparked SMU in turning back Arkansas, 67-56, after the lead had changed 7 times, exciting a crowd of 6,000 fans.

DEACONS, TAR HEELS BATTLE

Raleigh, N.C. (AP)—York-Larose hit 21 free throws without a miss and scored 37 points as North Carolina routed rival Duke 75-53 Tuesday night in the Dixie Classic semifinals.

Wake Forest rallied to defeat Dayton 61-50 in an afternoon championship bracket game. In the consolation division, once-beaten Utah defeated Minnesota 75-72 and Holy Cross edged North Carolina State 63-61 on a goal by J. D. Slattery with two seconds remaining. Sophomore Bill McGill scored 21 points to spark Utah's victory.

Wayne Blisters Augustana, 81-69

Wayne, Neb.—With Charles Rachow hitting 24 and Jerry Wisniewski potting 20, Wayne rolled to an 81-69 thumping of Augustana in the opening round of the Wayne Holiday tourney here Tuesday night.

Gustavus Adolphus whipped Morningside 73-58 in the first game after the winners trailed by a point at halftime. Lyle Nelson scored 21 for GA, while Kent Stritling hit 20 for Morningside.

Wayne held only a narrow 43-40 halftime edge over Augustana, but pulled away midway in the second half. Bud Swanhorst led the losers with 20.

Host Titans Win Motor City Meet

Detroit (AP)—Detroit won the Motor City basketball tournament championship Tuesday night by overwhelming Western Michigan 92-72.

The Titans, ranked 11th nationally, posted their 9th victory of the season. Their only loss has been to Indiana.

In the consolation final, New Mexico fought off a late surge by Valparaiso and won 80-76.

Vaught, Ole Miss Successful Combo

New Orleans (AP)—No matter how you look at it, Coach Johnny Vaught and Mississippi seem to be the right combination for winning football.

Against Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day, Vaught will be shooting for victory No. 101 in 13 years.

Aside from trying to even matters with LSU, Mississippi will also be out to even its record in the Sugar Bowl. This will be Mississippi's 4th showing in the New Orleans classic.

Mississippi's rise to prominence in college football under Vaught has been amazing. Against the 100 victories, Vaught's teams at Ole Miss have lost only 27 and tied 6.

Only Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma shows a better winning percentage over the same span.

There was a time when Tennessee and Alabama were the perennial Southeastern Conference representatives on the Bowl scene.

But Vaught has more than taken the play in the last few years with 7 bowl teams in his 13-year tenure.

Vaught's debut as a head coach made his SEC rivals stand up and take notice. He won the conference championship in his first year, the only man in SEC history to turn the trick.

The 1959 Rebel team was perhaps his finest, although there was no conference title. Only 10 minutes and 4 points separated the Rebels from a perfect season, and they get a chance to reverse fans and a national television audience (NBC) Friday.

The 7-3 loss to LSU was the only black mark on the Rebel blotter. Two weeks later, they smashed Tennessee 37-7, the team that snapped LSU's 19-game winning streak.

Vaught has a simple theory for winning. He gets the players, as evidenced by Charley Conerly, Barney Poole and this year All-America fullback Charley Flowers.

Devine Frets Mizzou Pass Defense

Miami, Fla. (AP)—The Missouri football team has been vulnerable to passing attacks this past season, adding to the apprehension of Coach Danny Devine as he prepares his Tigers for their Orange Bowl clash with Georgia Friday.

Georgia has two excellent tossers in Frank Tarkenton and Charley Britt.

"We've faced some outstanding passers," Devine said Tuesday. "Penn State's Richie Lucas, for one, and SMU's Don Meredith, Colorado's Gale Weidner and the Air Force's Richie Mayo.

"Maybe that had something to do with it, but let's face it, we are a slow team. That's not said in a derogatory manner, it just happens to be true, and you can't do anything about it."

Georgia has scored at least two touchdowns in every game, and Devine figures the New Year's Day game will be no exception. Consequently, Missouri's only chance is to outscore the Bulldogs.

With this in mind Devine has tried to sharpen his team's offense and put a polish on some new plays. He has a passer in Phil Snowden who on occasion has been very good.

If it is a tight game in which a field goal might be a factor, Missouri will be in bad shape. Ed Mehrer, star linebacker, injured a knee in the Air Force game and had to undergo an operation.

John Leimbach, kickoff artist and extra-point kicker, also injured a knee and probably won't be available Friday.

Omaha Again World's Largest Livestock Market

Far In Lead As Meat Packing Center For 5th Year In Row

Omaha (AP)—Omaha ranks as the world's largest livestock market and meat packing center for the 5th consecutive year, Harry B. Coffee, president of Omaha's Union Stockyards, declared Tuesday.

Total receipts of cattle, hogs and sheep for the year will exceed 6 1/2 millions, he said, noting that only two market days remain in the year.

Omaha has ranked first in total receipts for the last 4 years but this year exceeded all other markets in salable livestock receipts as well.

Chicago slipped into 3rd place behind St. Paul.

Omaha's 6 1/2 million head of livestock handled were valued at about $680 million, Coffee said, or an average of more than $2.5 million every market day in the year.

Once more Omaha was far in the lead as a meat packing center. Coffee said Omaha's 19 meat packing plants will have slaughtered more than 5 million head of cattle, hogs and sheep under federal inspection for the year.

Totals for the entire 12 months will not be available from all markets for several days, but Coffee said totals for the first 11 months of the year showed Omaha with total receipts of 6,116,000 head, St. Paul with 5,122,000 and Chicago with 4,888,000. In salable receipts Omaha had 4,763,000 for the 11 months, St. Paul 4,465,000 and Chicago 4,423,000.

Coffee said it did not appear that December marketings could change any of these rankings.

Northern Gas Allowed Lower Rate Increase

Washington (AP)—The Power Commission has allowed Northern Natural Gas Co., Omaha, to make a $2,134,000 reduction in a proposed $10,675,900 annual wholesale natural gas rate increase.

However, Northern also has proposed an additional increase of $1,281,000 annually to affect certain customers connected in recent expansions of Northern's system.

A hearing will start here Jan. 19 on both proposed increases.

Northern serves 35 utility customers in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Kansas.

The commission suspended the proposed $1,281,000 increase for one day, but permitted it to become effective as of Tuesday, subject to refund of any amounts disallowed upon conclusion of the proceeding.

The proposed $10,675,900 increase was suspended July 24 for 5 months, the company having authority as of Dec. 27 to put it into effect subject to refund.

Northern's service area is divided into zones.

The revised sheets provide for a $2,134,000 annual reduction in the previously filed rates for zones 1, 2, and 3, except for pipeline service to a new customer.

One Seriously Hurt As 2 Cars Hit Gas Truck

Omaha (AP)—Two cars smashed into a truck loaded with 8,000 gallons of gasoline Tuesday seriously injuring one driver and rupturing the transport's tank.

Firemen spent 4 hours flushing away the gas.

Truck driver Leonard E. Nelsen, 31, Council Bluffs, said he was making a left turn when cars driven by Ronald R. Regier, 18, and Richard A. Sisson, 23, crashed into the tank unit.

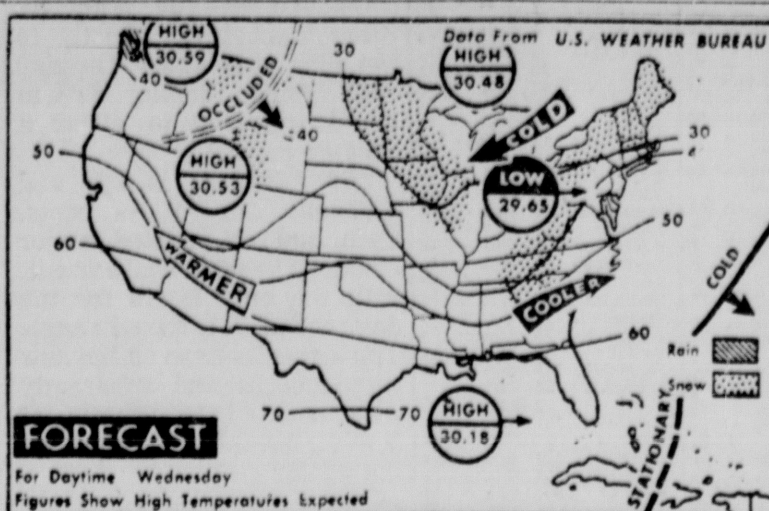

Regier was taken to the hospital for treatment of head, face and internal injuries. Sisson was treated for hand cuts. Nelsen was unhurt.

50% More Land Is Subject To Erosion Damage

Washington (AP)—The U.S. Soil Conservation Service reported Tuesday that 50% more land in the Great Plains is in a condition to blow and suffer erosion damages than a year earlier.

This acreage was reported at 12,600,000 acres compared with 8,339,000 a year earlier. About two-thirds of it was in the 5 southern Great Plains states of Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

The agency reported, however, that only 200,000 acres of Great Plains land had been damaged by wind erosion to Dec. 1 this season compared with 400,000 to the same date last year.

Light Snow Likely In Nebraska

The New England states, the north and central Appalachians, the middle Mississippi Valley and the eastern portions of the Dakotas and northern Rockies will have snow or snow flurries Wednesday. Showers are expected in the northern part of Washington state. Clear skies are expected elsewhere. It will be colder in the southeast except for Florida while cold will continue in the Lakes region and the Ohio Valley. It will be warmer in the southwest. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Restraining Order For Norris Granted; Ties Up Power Case

Beatrice (UPI)—Norris Public Power District was granted a restraining order Tuesday to tie up action in its power controversy with the city of Beatrice.

Norris, the contracted supplier of power to the city, not yet been put into effect.

In Tuesday's action, Norris claimed that the recent Supreme Court ruling is now invalid since the word "rural" has been deleted from Norris' charter. The ruling handed down by the high court had said Norris was going beyond its charter limitations, then including the "rural" in its title, in contracting power to the city.

Nebraska News

requested and was granted the order on an application for a temporary injunction against the city, its mayor and council. The order by Gage County District Judge Ernest Hubka prevents the city from refusing to perform under the existing contract with Norris. It also prevents the city from entering into a contract with any other agency for the purchase of electric power.

Norris posted $5,000 bond.

Jan. 14 Hearing

Hubka set Jan. 14 as the hearing date for the temporary injunction. The restraining order will remain in effect until that time.

The power controversy has been long in the courts. Recently, the state Supreme Court declared the contract between Norris and the city null and void, reversing a decision by Gage County District Court. Norris then filed for a rehearing and was refused by the high court.

Previous to the high court ruling, the city had issued calls for bid proposals on an interim power contract in the event the Supreme Court declared the existing contract with Norris void.

That one-year contract has Columbus — The search for Miss Nebraska of 1960 began Tuesday.

Headquarters for the Miss Nebraska Pageant of 1960 — which will be held in Columbus July 2 — were opened here by Jack Bullington, Nebraska Junior Chamber of Commerce chairman for the event.

The winning Nebraska girl will represent the state in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City, N.J., next September.

Bullington urged all Nebraska communities to send a representative to a local pageant or to the state contest next July.

Menefee Resigns State Home Post

Beatrice (AP)—Allen Menefee, director of social services at Beatrice State Home, announced his resignation Tuesday.

Menefee said he had accepted a job as consultant to the National Assn. for Retarded Children. He will leave his present job Feb. 1.

Menefee was the first person to fill the state home social service post which was created three and one-half years ago.

Juvenile Officer G. C. Falkenberg Dies In Omaha

Omaha (AP)—Gordon C. Falkenberg, 60, former juvenile court probation officer, died unexpectedly at his home.

Falkenberg served 28 years in the Navy before becoming a juvenile court probation officer in 1945. After 5 years in that post he was chief deputy sheriff under Richard Collins for 4 years. Since then he had worked for a private detective firm.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. Falkenberg is survived by his widow and two daughters, both of Omaha.

East's Wheat Fields Aided By Moisture

... West Still Dry

Moisture this week has been a boon to winter grains in eastern Nebraska but in western districts, which received little or no moisture, late seedings and those on light soils continue vulnerable to loss from blowing and exposure, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

Moisture relieved the dry surface soil situation in much of eastern Nebraska and provided a beneficial snow cover for fall planted crops which had made below-normal growth before entering the winter, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Despite dry weather of several weeks, the condition of winter grain crops has shown only a modest decline because winds have been light and temperatures rather mild, the report said.

Corn harvest is finished except for a few scattered fields and many farmers are turning attention to other jobs.

Much plowing, discing and stalk cutting was accomplished during December and farmers are catching up on fencing, building and outdoor repair jobs.

The past week proved ideal for livestock, at least until the snow storm struck, the report said. The heavy snow will restrict field foraging in the east and supplemental feed requirements will increase.

Precipitation throughout the state during the past week included:

STEM U.S. DOLLAR DRAIN, TREASURY CHIEF CAUTIONS

Washington (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson counseled Tuesday against any letup in efforts to stem the drain of U.S. dollars overseas.

He said indicated improvement in the nation's international financial position may be short lived, and that the United States will have to cope with a troublesome problem next year.

In this way, Anderson apparently sought to apply the brakes to any over-optimism as the result of a recent Commerce Department report picturing the U.S. position as taking a marked turn for the better in the July-September quarter.

"We should not interpret short run improvements in our balance of payments position as necessarily indicating that our problems have ended," the Treasury secretary told a joint luncheon of the American Finance Assn. and the American Economics Assn.

Anderson said the payments deficit will approach 4 billion dollars this year. He predicted a somewhat smaller total in 1960, attributing this to an expected temporary increase in foreign demand for some types of exports.

Aggregate Assets For State Banks Up $34,457,000

Aggregate assets of Nebraska banks rose $34,457,000 during the 12-month period ending October 6, 1959, according to the Tenth District Federal Reserve Bank.

During the period individuals and business deposits increased $16,259,000 while time deposits rose $16,089,000.

Bank loans expanded to $54,455,000, an increase of $87,589,000. Only residential and guaranteed commodity credit corporation loans declined, while loans to farmers and stockmen rose substantially, recording an increase of $45,312. Consumer loans increased $13,298,000.

Nebraska banks focused an increasing amount of credit into domestic business and farm activities while reducing their investments in government securities.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

Have you spotted any important trends in the past year? Have been looking into my own and others' experiences but only a calendar from the banker.

"BANK ON US!" I have been banking heavily on my judgment all year. Withdrawing a little more than I can put back. The strain is telling on us both.

I read in the journals my bank has lost a suit for $1095 which it must pay to a handyman who fed a herd of 35 stray cats—the terms of an odd will.

I think my banker had better bank on me for advice. Take the cats into the bank and feed them. Do not lose lawsuits.

Mr. "O," an executive in Sapporo, Japan, found that everything he ate made him red-faced, staggered and happy as a lark.

Doctors looked him over and found a curious condition. "Mr. 'O's,' internal chemistry was rigged like a still for rifle whiskey. It turned all his food to alcohol. Mr. 'O' does not drink but he was as boiled as an owl.

In Leighton, England, a pet white mouse named Fred ran up the coin slot of a public telephone and refused to come out.

The telephone people had to disassemble the instrument where they found Fred chewing on a sixpence.

Bayonne, N. J.—Flash! Two sea gull chasers were hired by the Navy base after a sea gull flew down and stole a longshoreman's false teeth.

The fashion trends: Brown lipstick is the latest thing in Paris. Hats for next year will be "beehive" models, hiding the face down to the brown-lipstick line.

It is almost impossible for a girl on Crete to get a husband without a dowry. Most Cretan girls do not have that kind of ready and things looked bad all over.

The Pan Cretan Society of America is soliciting funds for this worthy purpose.

You can buy a wig for bed to hide your hair curlers. They come in blonde, pink, sea-green, sky-blue and mauve.

A dog in Montpelier, Vt., found 40 bottles of stolen liquor. A case that had police baffled, as we say in the journals.

Brigitte Bardot's coming baby is costing France $5 million. This is the amount la belle France would make in foreign exchange if la belle Bardot could work in movies—which she cannot.

"Everyone approves of Brigitte's baby," said Paris-Press editorially.

You can't beat the French for sentiment. In New York, sports car salesmen offered free poodles as an inducement for sales. However, it turns out the poodles are really "optional equipment" and jack the prices up about $200.

So much for the trend in law, order and free enterprise.

Danielle Darrieux announced she would make a long-playing record of "Music to Bathe By."

She discovered her best-selling records are those she sings while soaping up. "May increase bathing in France," said her record company in a lather of excitement.

In Glasgow, Scotland, Andrew Morgan mailed an angry letter to his wife. Had an aftermath of remorse. Poured kerosene in the mail box and dropped in a lighted match.

In London, the Wholesale Clothing Manufacturers Association declared that England's best-dressed males are the juvenile delinquent "Teddy boys."

So the year ended. And none too soon.

FUGATE ATTORNEYS ASK STATE COURT FOR APPEAL RE-HEARING

Attorneys for Caril Ann Fugate asked the State Supreme Court Tuesday for a re-hearing of the 16-year-old girl's appeal from a district court murder conviction.

The high court recently affirmed the conviction.

In a brief supporting the re-hearing motion, the lawyers complained that the supreme court "has relegated the making of a bet by a juror in a capital case to the category of a slight and immaterial error."

The fact that juror H. A. Walenta had, prior to his selection as a juror, made a bet on the trial outcome had been cited by Caril's attorneys as one of the errors warranting a new trial.

The brief said that whether the bet was won or lost is beside the point.

"The notion that the prejudicial character of a bet by a juror depends in the slightest measure on whether he won or lost indicates a failure to understand the question that is involved. It means that a subjective test is applied and that an act which is lawful and proper in one instance is unlawful and improper in another," the brief said.

Caril is serving a life term at the York Women's Reformatory for first degree murder as companion to executed killer Charles Starkweather.

Tuesday's brief was submitted by attorneys John McArthur and Merrill R. Reller of Lincoln.

The brief contends that defense attorneys were not given opportunity to answer the state's showing on the motion for new trial.

Said the brief:

"The point we have urged so desperately is that there is no particular relation between the weight of the evidence and the fairness of the trial. If there was, in cases of overwhelming evidence of guilt, it would be proper to dispense with the trial entirely. The danger of this logic is that it is the only type of logic that can be proffered to defend lynchings.

"The statement of the court that defendant was a participant with Starkweather in the killing of nine persons demonstrates, to say the least, that the court excludes completely any fair consideration of defendant's version of the facts.

"It is a considerable burden to defend against a charge of murdering one person. This court should be aware that the circumstances surrounding the deaths of nine other persons cannot be fully developed in such a trial.

"We will not quarrel with the court's opinion that it cannot see how any fair and impartial jury could arrive at any different result, even though we disagree most emphatically. All we ask is that a fair and impartial jury be given an opportunity to decide the issue for itself."

Ball Bearings Hurlled At Wilson Workers' Autos

Omaha (A)—Police inspector Jean Whinnery said Tuesday slingshots have apparently been used to hurl ball bearings at cars owned by Wilson & Company workers.

He said the ball bearings vary in size and are too large to have been fired from a gun. They have broken the windows of cars parked on the company's west lot.

Whinnery said the vandals probably have aimed their slingshots from moving cars and lobbed the pellets over the fence. The bombardments have occurred while company guards were in the area, but no one has been seen using a sling shot, he said.

6 DIPHTHERIA CASES TALLIED

No new polio cases were recorded the past week, the State Health Department said Tuesday.

This leaves the state with a polio count of 131 cases this year compared to 34 last year.

Six cases of diphtheria were reported, however. Five were from Douglas County and one from Arcadia involving a 9-year-old boy.

The new cases brought the number this year to 26 compared to 12 at this time last year.

NWU Gets $1,000 Unrestricted Gift

Dr. Vance D. Rogers, president of Nebraska Wesleyan University, Tuesday announced the receipt of a gift of $1,000 from the Hested Stores Co., of Fairbury.

Owen Fritz, manager of the Hested Store in Lincoln, presented the check to Nebraska Wesleyan with no restrictions as to how the money should be used. Dr. Rogers said the Hested Stores also have contributed funds for two scholarship programs for students at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Liquor Commission Gives Omaha License

The State Liquor Control Commission reported Tuesday it has awarded a Class C liquor license to Helen S. Geldis, doing business as the Parkside Cafe and Bar, Omaha.

The Omaha City Council had recommended that the application for license be denied. A hearing on the application was held before the liquor commission Nov. 16.
